Broom Sale Dollars Do A Double Duty

Torrance Lions Club Annual Brooms for the Blind sale lends not one but two helping hands to those less fortunate than most residents of the community.

"Half of the money the club raises," said Paul Diamond president, "remains in Torrance to help children, local children, who have eye difficulties."

he other half goes to the Work Shop for the Blind for supplying the organization with the brooms."

Another source of revenue to the Club for its philanthropic project is from local merchants who help sponsor a full page advertisement promoting the sale of the blind-made brooms. The page is donated to the local service club by the Torrance Herald. The Lions Club invites local merchants, businesses, and professional men to help sponsor the ad. All the money is retained by the Lions club and later divided between the local project and Work Shop for the blind.

New Tri-Hi-Y Leaders Start Year in Office

Karen Ness, popular Torrance High School senior, had a hold of the business end of a gavel Monday night as she conducted her first meeting as president of the Tri-Hi-Y, a national organization of High School YMCA service clubs for girls.

Other leaders in the group, which met at the local YMCA building on Washington avenue, to discuss service projects for the ensuing year, include: Ann Stephens, vice president; Ann Bishop, secretary; Jane Fischer, treasurer; Jeanette Lopez, chaplain; Janet Williamson, sergeant-at-arms; Joan Stephens, historian-recorder; and Arlene Smart, sanitary engineer.

The girls voted to assist with the annual YMCA Good Neighbor Breakfast, to gather CARE boxes for Europe, to gather old clothes for shipment to Korea, to help entertain children in the local hospitals, and to assist the Lions Club with its Annual Brooms for the Blind Sale.

Advisor to the group is Mrs. Betty Donnelly, a volunteer aid. Purpose of the organization is to promote fellowship between the Hi-Y clubs and the girls' group.

Highway Patrol Forms Auxiliary

An auxiliary unit of the California Highway Patrol to be used in the event of a major disaster or emergency is being recruited in Area Five of the patrol, it was announced here by Patrolman Al Barnes.

Barnes said that any man 21 or over who could pass the physical fitness test could sign up for the force. After a short period of schooling in police work members of the unit will be on a standby basis only and will not be used except for traffic control in the event of an emergency, he said.

"We will start a training class as soon as enough men sign up to make it practicable," Barnes said yesterday.

He is recruiting men from Torrance and the Shoshone area. Information about the auxiliary unit may be obtained by calling the CHP offices at Newmark 16101, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

NUTS SUNBURNED
