Banking that is Building California!

Emerson said "An Institution is the lengthened shadow of one man"—a sentence which aptly describes California's Bank of America. For here, indeed, is an institution which carries on today in the same pioneer spirit which always motivated its founder—A. P. Giannini.

Born in California of pioneer parents, A. P. Giannini brought to banking the zeal which made possible the growth of this California-wide institution—in 48 years to become the world's largest bank—a bank founded on the concept of public service . . . of banking for all, large and small.

That pioneer spirit resulted in the introduction of the school savings plan which now teaches thrift to more than five hundred thousand young Californians.

That pioneer spirit has enabled this bank to lead the way in the small loan field with its many Timeplan services . . . and lead the way in providing loans for homes and businesses to veterans and others . . . to lend hundreds of millions of dollars to California farmers for the purchase of farms, livestock, seed and equipment.

That pioneer spirit has enabled Bank of America to make an all-important contribution to civic development throughout California by the purchase of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of municipal bonds for schools, hospitals, airports and other improvements.

And within the last year that pioneer spirit motivated this bank in its retention of Saturday banking service, so that its own more than four million depositors, as well as other Californians, might be served.

Here, indeed, is Banking that is Building California—building your state and your community through 529 branches in as many California neighborhoods.
