See You IN CHURCH Sunday

RIGHTLY are we proud of the technical skill we have incorporated into the Giant B-36. What organization of power! What a miracle of speed! Specifically, it has a wingspan of 230 feet, is 162 feet long and nearly 47 feet high. Its maximum bomb load is 84,000 pounds. May she never be forced by our warped-minded enemies to dump her loads of devastation on innocent peoples. She knows her goal; the way is marked; her instruments are set. Let those who would mock God and destroy His Church never challenge her capabilities. She has Spiritual Precision.

OF COURSE the giant pictured here above the clouds is a mechanical marvel. But The President of the World Incorporated is much more interested in how we deal with flesh-and-blood persons. We are commanded to go into all the world and preach His cause. The Church is His Temple and our place of worship. How much more of value is a man than a ship? How far will we go to church? How far will we travel for Him? Some day we shall hear the Master say, "Inasmuch as you did it unto one of the least of these, you did it unto me." May our B-36 be His ambassador, His servant.

With the Hope that More People Will Come to Church this Series is Sponsored by The Torrance Ministerial Association and Made Possible by the Following Civic Leaders . . .

'A Church for Yamoto'

Church in Japan Founded by 578th

Men of Torrance and other Southland cities which make up the 578th Engineer Combat Battalion decided to give a church to the remote Japanese village of Yamoto soon after they arrived in Japan last April.

And, although the battalion has been fighting in Korea with the 40th Division since January, contributions continue to roll in. Battalion Chaplain Chester O. Mulder announced recently that the 578th's contributions already amount to more than $1500.

In addition, the Church of the Nazarene's Japan organization has agreed to match the battalion fund, dollar for dollar, so that the projected $8000 structure will be completed by late summer.

The story of "A Church for Yamoto" started last spring when the battalion, then on security duty in Japan, moved in to nearby Camp Matsushima.

Members of the Japanese congregation, which now had crowded the village hall, were invited to attend services at the camp, and Reverend Nagamatsu started a morning Sunday school class.

No one is sure now who first got the idea of building a church for the new congregation, but engineers who had been attending the Japanese services, singing in the choir, and teaching converts, accepted the plan with enthusiasm.

Village officials agreed to provide the land, and Capt. John Ross, former Van Nuys architect, drew up the plans.

When the 578th was ordered to Korea fears were expressed that the project, begun so well, would be abandoned.

But Reverend Nagamatsu kept the new congregation together, contributions from the battalion continued through Chaplain Mulder, and another engineer battalion that recently moved into Camp Matsushima took up the project.

In a letter to Chaplain Mulder, Reverend Nagamatsu declared that although probably few of the engineers will return to Japan to see the end result of their generosity, the part they played in the church project would always be a monument to them.

"The ideals and hopes which you inspired in us are still alive in our hearts," he wrote. "Our people are more determined than ever to have a good church, and to send missionaries to other parts of the Orient."

Said Chaplain Mulder, "Great churches have had their beginnings through lesser gestures than this. The men who had a part in 'A Church for Yamoto' will always feel a glow of satisfaction in their contribution."

Mr. Killman and his team spoke to 10,000 men on Kimm Island. More than one-third took a special correspondence course on Christianity, which is offered by the missionaries, and Mr. Killman said they finished the course with more than 1,000 true followers of Christianity.

Members of the team were mistaken for guerrillas because to their knowledge they were the only Americans on the tiny Kimm Island. After making closer personal contacts, however, they learned of an underground guerrilla "school" which they were permitted to visit.

"It was a thrill to speak to these men who were willing to risk their lives for their country in this way," Mr. Killman's report reads. "We spoke of another Man who laid down His life for them. Many of them responded."
