

Kettler Kapers

By Virginia Jones, Lom. 1256-J and Teo Cunningham, Lom. 232

Today is May Day, and I wonder how many found May baskets on their doorsteps? Not many, I'll bet, for that delightful old custom of putting a wild flower or two and a homemade goodie into a small homemade basket and leaving it on a friend's doorstep to say "I like you, you are my friend" . . . and to greet spring at the same time, has all but vanished. Another fast-disappearing custom among the children on May Day is the dance around a gaily streamer-bedecked Maypole. (Doesn't that bring back nostalgic memories to some of you older ones?) It's a shame too that these lovely celebrations of "yore" are fading into the past, for they were fun as well as a "swell" way to greet a month in which more and more flowers burst into bloom.

A special banquet should be given to Mrs. Meade (Marguerite) Ferguson, of Falena St., who has found time to sandwich into her busy life of housewife, time to teach a class in first aid. Though she didn't expect a reward, the six students who completed the course presented her with a lovely azalea plant. She intends to start another class soon, so being conscious of the possibility of accidents in the homes, and to those little ones of ours, why not be wise and take the course? Wouldn't it be fun, and something to be proud of, if there were enough from Kettler Knolls to make up an entire class? I'll bet Marguerite would really enjoy that group!

One of the nicest things about the job of writing this column is the chance to meet the new folks that have joined us . . .

There are two families this week, Carolyn and Gandy Boss, who have lived in Torrance since 1929, have moved into the house at 1808 Santa Fe St. They have two children, Robert who is 15, and Joanne who is 17, a senior at Torrance High. By the way, Joanne was just 17 a short while ago, and if we had known it, Joanne, we would have wished you a very happy birthday. So though it's late, permit us to do that now. Mr. Boss is employed by Shell Oil Co.

Marlaine and William Luciant with their three children, Harry, Arthur and Marlissa (isn't that a cute and different name?), have returned to their home on Middlebrook Rd. They own the house, but because of illness of the family they had rented it to the Richardises for some time while they were back East. The Richardises have moved to Long Beach (adieu, folks) so the Luciantians have moved back into their home. Welcome back, neighbors.

If there is any connection between spring and acting, I don't know about it, but it does seem that when spring comes the thespians come forward with their offerings. One of these will be the comedy "Miss Molly's Girl" to be presented in the Civic Auditorium next Thursday, May 8, by the Nativity School. Tickets are available at the school on Carson St. and the convent on Cota Ave. and will be sold at the door that night. It promises to be a very entertaining evening, so why not plan to go?

Family ties are really enjoyed when families can get together to celebrate birthdays that come close together. That was the case last Friday night when Mrs. W. (Rose) Schaefer and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jackie Bourget, were honored at a group gathering at the Schaefer home on Gramercy Ave. Mrs. J. A. Bourget baked a huge angel food cake, gaily decorated with the birthday motif, but instead of one set of candles, there were two. On one side the age of Jackie was outlined with the candles and on the other the age of Rose. When candle-blowing-out time came, they both blew at the same time, each blowing out his own. They also cut the cake together. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bourget, Mrs. Claire Bourget, Mrs. Rita Holden, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bourget, and Ted and Ruth Eyrich and sons Jeff and Keith, of Long Beach (remember them? They are former Kettlerites). After the birthday goodies were consumed, the evening was spent viewing home movies that have been made over the years, showing important events in the family history, such as the first year birthday party of Maurice Schaefer, the first communion of Maurice, the baptism of Larry, etc. Rose said that they really got some good laughs at the styles which were the very latest when the movies were taken, but seem so queer to us now.

Coming as a sort of anti-climax to all the activities, but nonetheless exciting to the Kaelin family of Schilling Dr. is the birth April 23 of Linda Marie Dupont in San Diego. She is the granddaughter of Chief and Mrs. A. H. Kaelin, who spent last week-end "down yonder" giving the new "daddy" moral support and catching a few glimpses of the "littles angel." Congratulations to the new parents and grandparents.

Here and there: Jimmy Davis just back to school and Dianna Jones down with the measles . . . The Larry Browns having completed redecoration of their kitchen and bath, took advantage of the lovely spring weather and drove up to Lake Elsinore and back recently . . . Kitty Walsberg had her aunt, Mrs. Pearl Williams of Long Beach, visiting with her for the day last Friday . . . A happy wedding anniversary to Dick and Dorothy Oliver on May 6 . . . H. L. Weber of Middlebrook Rd. having the thrill of working in a brand new store, the new Von's in Gardena . . . The Treday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oliver had as dinner guests one James Brattin of San Diego (she's Lou's sister) . . . A belated happy birthday to David Footo, whose birthday was last Tuesday, and to Gordie Jones, whose natal date was last Friday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Richard
