POWER POINTER

Your electric service--- a "miracle" in the American way!

When the first central electric generating plant began operating in this country, its customers paid twenty-five cents per kilowatt hour for the electricity it produced. If the price were the same today, your household electric bill would be something like $410.00 a year.* But the electric industry has built many millions of dollars worth of facilities, developed new ways for electricity to make your living better—and reduced your cost to a mere fraction of what it was. That's a miracle of accomplishment—probably the best example of what can be achieved by private enterprise at work.

*The average annual consumption of electricity per domestic meter in Edison territory is approximately 1640 kilowatt hours.
