PROGRAM NOTES

Popular acclaim brings the "Mary MacAduo at Home" program back to TV screens beginning Monday at 3 p. m. over Channel 4, following a short vacation. Security-First National Bank again sponsors the three-weekly show.

John Leauge, chief of the Canadian delegation of the Economic and Social Council at the United Nations and assistant to the Minister for External Affairs of Canada, will be interviewed by members of the United Nations Correspondents Association on ABC-TV's "United-Or Not?" on Sunday at 3:30 p. m. over Channel 7.

"The Worm Turns" and what happens when he does will be vividly demonstrated on The Johns Hopkins Science Review, Sunday at 1 p. m. on Channel 4. Dr. Arthur H. Clarke of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., will be the special guest on this session of the Science Review. Dr. Clarke is an international authority on butterflies and will demonstrate the life, habits and care of butterflies.

Solenoids, those electromagnetic gadgets which have dozens of uses in every day living, will be the subject for experiment and discussion on NBC-TV's "Mr. Wizard" tele-thon, Sunday at 2 p. m. on Channel 4.

A solenoid is an electrically operated magnet with a movable core that operates such common devices as door chimes and automatic switches. Don Herbert, creator of "Mr. Wizard," will show how to build a simple, workable solenoid and will build an electronic toy machine gun for his young audience. Will, played by Bruce Langdon.

John Lawrence (portrayed by Roland Winters) faces one of the hardest assignments of his career in helping his agents try to recover plans for a new and highly important military weapon, on "Doorway to Danger," Friday at 9 p. m. on Channel 4.

"Hit and Run," a mystery drama starring Robert Hudson and Bonita Granville, will be the presentation for Friday at 9:30 p. m. on Channel 4. The story of a young husband who awakens the night after a poker party with a hangover, "Hit and Run" is a mystery. "Hit and Run" is a mystery. "Hit and Run" is a mystery.

AL PEARCE AND GANG MAKE EVENING VIDEO BOW
Zanies Provide Comedy and Music Fare

He latched onto radio after he and his brother Cal went to a lot of real estate conventions and entertained their fellow realtors with various skits. A San Francisco radio station signed them.

It wasn't long before the Peaces were well known along the Pacific Coast as a comedy team, and then Al began to make additions. Getting together a "Gang," he originated the "Al Pearce Happy-Go-Lucky Hour."

Although Cal went back to the real estate business, Al was in radio to stay, and started building up a reputation as a master of ceremonies, in addition to his abilities as a writer, actor, producer, and general all-round man. In 1935, his program went coast-to-coast over a national network.

Personal appearances on a nationwide tour set box office records. His famous "I hope-I-hope-I-hope" words of self-encouragement became a household catchphrase. Pearce did his stuff right through the war, flying more than 50,000 miles to visit service camps all over the South Pacific. He made his television debut on CBS-TV last February. Al likes his fun as well as his work, and fishing comes first with him when he has some spare time. He is expected to be the star of the "Al Pearce Happy-Go-Lucky Hour" fall and spring, 1952-53.

Elmer Blurt, Tizzle Lish, Yogi Yorgensen and the rest of the famed Al Pearce Gang make their bow as an evening television attraction next Thursday night from 8:30 to 9 on KNXT, channel 2.

Featuring funster Al Pearce and monologist Art Harris, the new evening Al Pearce show also includes singer Art Morton and announcer Jay Stewart. Pearce will personally portray, among other bits, Eb and Zeb, the country storekeepers, and Elmer Blurt, the low-pressure salesman who inveigles housewives into buying useless gadgets.

Although he lacked Blurt's "low pressure" techniques in peddling gadgets, Pearce once successfully sold roofing via the sidewalk route. For a time he also knocked on back doors as a gas-meter man. Later, he and his brother Cal started a one-cow dairy and a real estate agency. Right now, he owns a pitted prune factory at Sunnyvale, Calif., and is planning to open a retail shop to sell the prunes in Hollywood.

But it was at the San Francisco World's Fair in 1915 that he first stepped into the advertising business. He was a musician.
