TEEN BEAUTY TYPES POISED FOR TV STARDOM

By A. J. CUNNINGHAM, Cameraman
AS the cameraman on N.T.G.'s "Hollywood Road to Fame" show on Channel 2, I've had occasion to see many beautiful girls. And of them all, I must express a preference for brunettes; I'll stake my vote for beauty on the dark-haired lassies every time.

This will undoubtedly raise a roar of protest from those whose likes go in the direction of blondes or redheads. But I say a brunette with snapping brown or hazel eyes has it all over the other girls, not only in natural beauty (and most brunettes' dark hair is to do musical comedy.

Charlene first appeared on "Hollywood Road to Fame" when she was 13 years old. Since she's now all of 16, this makes her a veteran on TV. She lives in San Pedro, and has been a performer since she made her first stage appearance as a model at the age of 5. Now in high school, she's appeared as a ballet soloist in several school productions. Her ambition is to do musical comedy.

This girl has appeared in entertainment groups appearing at military camps, once held a membership in the Screen Children's Guild, and is active in community and school activities.

And she's so good to look at—through the camera or my eyes.
