Walteria News Notes

Reporter Puts Off Painting for Work

By BETTY MITCHELL
Phone Lomita 2635-W

Guess it's time to withdraw my head from the paint bucket and find out what's been going on the last week or so in our community. Seems I got the notion to paint the house at the wrong time of the year, for now there are only a few shopping days left 'til Christmas, and I must join the other last minute shoppers in the crowded stores. Hope that all you readers have been smarter than I, and have already stored gifts away for the coming happy day. By the way, next Sunday will be Christmas Sunday, so why not try to get to one of the churches in our community? Most of them have planned special music and programs for this day and I know you would enjoy them.

Speaking of special music reminds me that this Sunday the 27-voice choir of the Walteria Community Methodist Church is going to present a cantata titled "Chimes of the Holy Night," a four part chorus. The cantata will be given at the Recreation Hall at 7 p.m. and all the community is invited to attend.

The weather may have been nice and balmy last week, but old man flu didn't seem even to notice it. Many of our acquaintances have been having a tussle with him or with other winter afflictions. Among them was Mrs. William Simpson of Danaha St., who had a severe attack of bronchitis and is just now up and around again. Mrs. William Burgener was also very ill and confined to her home for over a week by doctor's orders. Glad to hear that she is better now.

The Cub Scouts are holding their pack meeting early this month because of Christmas. They will meet Friday, Dec. 19, instead of the 26th. The boys have been having a lot of fun this year, and we have been told the parents enjoy the pack meetings as much as the boys do.

The general meeting of the W.S.C.S. was held last Tuesday, Dec. 16, at the home of Mrs. Jane Burger, Arlington St., Torrance. The meeting was in the form of a Christmas meeting and each lady took a "white gift" for the needy. A lot of fun was had by all over the "cooky exchange" which they had. Each lady baked as many cookies as she pleased and took them to the meeting. Then all the cookies from the many kitchens were placed on a huge table, and each one took a mixture of the cook-school auditorium. They have planned a dandy program for the small fry, including a puppet show and gifts from Santa Claus. The evening should prove to be enjoyable for the whole family.

The Bunco Club is holding its Christmas for husbands and wives tomorrow night in preparation for the gay holiday spirit. The party will be held at the home of Mrs. John Monaghan, Danaha St.

This reporter has been enjoying the various window, door and light displays in our community this week. They have been blossoming out all over the place and really add to the feeling of holiday cheer. Would n't it be wonderful if every householder could do his bit of decorating? Speaking of doing our "bits," how about buying Christmas seals which most of us have received by mail? It would be one way of saying "Merry Christmas" to many with just a small contribution that all can afford.

A GREAT CHRISTMAS VALUE!

BEAUTY ON DISPLAY

Our Shop Windows display creations that would make a Fairyland look like Poverty Row. Santa's sample room has been moved to the counters of our stores. There we see gifts so lovely, so beautiful, so tempting I suspect our merchants have rubbed a gent's lamp. We would treasure any one of those gifts and if we would enjoy it, the person who receives it will have the same feeling. Make your choice now, while there is a wide selection.

With arms filled with packages, shoppers are in a festive mood. They are happy. Listen to their voices as they greet friends; look at their faces as they prepare for that most joyous occasion—Christmas. We see them buying ingredients for cookies, mince meat, home decorations; watch them lugging trees, ornaments and lights to exemplify the birthday of our Lord.

Christmas in Torrance will be a birthday party that happiness creates.
