

What loveliness! The rugged mountains have taken on added beauty as they look up from depths of water. Perhaps it is due to their nearer and less austere appearance. They have been softened and humanized. We view them with less of fear. The high, cold, and majestic are too much for us of the everyday. But when caught in the transforming grace of the lake they call to us and claim our appreciation.

And so is it with your ideals and mine...with your strength, courage, patience, kindness and even with your church. They are so faithfully reflected in the words we speak and in the deeds of our hands. They are brought within the common experiences of human fellowship. Blessed are the "meek, the humble, the merciful, the pure in heart", when we meet them on our level. The great and glorious ideals need ever to be pellected from the lower waters of the family and the neighborhood. There our friends see us as we really are. They appreciate the graces and good values of nobility of soul. All the high dreams of our spirits must be translated and reflected back, as it were, from the lowly waters at the foot of the mountain peaks. You and I are known by the reflections seen. The waters do not quench our ideals. They beautify the highest and best in us. What are your reflections like?
