

Lt. Col. McLean
... Ends Special Training
Torrance High
Grad Completes
Command Course

Lt. Col. Michael T. McLean, graduate of Torrance High School with the class of '27, was one of a group of 100 U. S. Air Force senior officers and high-ranking civilians who completed the Air Force Manpower Management Training program at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C., earlier this month, the Herald learned yesterday.

Now assistant for public works, Office of the Deputy Chief for Materiel, the Pentagon, Colonel McLean was among the 93 of officers and seven civilians who took the training course.

Following his graduation from Torrance High here in 1927, McLean attended Long Beach Junior College and UCLA.

The class attended by Colonel McLean and the other Air Force personnel was conducted especially for men in command positions or those who are expected to assume command positions soon, it was reported.

Frog Hunters Licensed

For the first time, California frog hunters will need fishing licenses this year to take frogs either for sale or sport, according to License Officer C. L. O'Leary of the Department of Fish and Game.

JOB INVESTMENT

It requires an investment of not less than $8,000 to create a job for an average worker in an industrial plant.

FOOD REPORTS

In the 20 years before World War II, the U.S. exported about 20 percent of the food it produced.
