The result was $40,000 worth of damage to both trains. It is estimated that the rescu train slid hundreds of feet into the stalled train, all of which reminds us of the recent story about the lady who was asked to give a stranded motorist a push. The motorist in-formed her that his car would not start until she got up to 30 miles an hour, since it had an automatic drive.

We imagine the engineer of the stranded train, viewing the rescue train sliding into him, felt just about like the motorist who watched the lady back off, proceed to get up to a speed of thirty miles an hour and crash into the rear of his car. There are all sorts of new ways to de things, it seems.

The U.S. and Indo-China

News dispatches told of French Chief Of Staff General Paul Ely's recent week-long visit to Washington, and of his success in persuading U. S. Officials to dispatch 25 medium bombers and other equipment and material to the control of the control o ing U. S. Oricelast to dispaten 25 mention bombers and other equipment and material to Indo-China.

The story newspapers didn't tell was that Washington invited Ely here to talk to him about French training methods, U. In the past the French have been very touchy about U. S. personnel going to Indo-China to train the natives. The French want to retain a solid command, but apparently the ledge or the terminate job U. S. military advisors did in Korea with South Korean troops and told that they could do the same thing in Indo-China. The French Staff Chief was apparently impressed but did not commit him self on the question.

In our opinion, the French would do well to eagerly accept U. S. offers to ald, in the training of their native troops. If there is one country in the world without imperialistic motives, it is the U. S. The French must know this, and only pride the jealousy among French military men and politicians is preventing an acceptance of U. S. offers to help train native troops. In French Indo-China.

But Democratic members, in the minority, dissented. They said that even though there were irregularities in the election Chavez had not benefitted from them any more than his opponent—retired Major General Patrick Hurley.

The voter, in most cases, simply didn't know which claim was right. The Senate meanwhile refused to unseat Chavez, 53 to 36. The thirty-six votes against Chavez and the propeller-plane record by some twenty-eight minutes.

The surprising thing about this new record is that it it so nly sixteen minutes short of the jet record between Los Angèles and New York. Joe De Bonna piloted the F51 on the record crossing—the plane being owned by actor Jimmy Stewart.

He told reporters he flew at 33,000 feet most of the way is an effort to ride the jet stream, a stream of fast-moving air which adds considerably to the speed of aircraft flying within it. However, he was not able to find the jet stream, and his new record was made without aid from the clusive stream.

It occurs to us that if the F51 had been able to take advantage of the jet stream, then it would probably have cracked the jet record for a trans-continent crossing. This will surprise some, who have come to the conclusion that propeller-driven aircraft are synonomous with the horse-and-buggy. On the contrary, propeller-driven aircraft, if flown at jet altitudes, are causable of seared were vices to here it is the stream of the contrary, propeller-driven aircraft, if flown at jet altitudes, are causable of seared were vices to here. the propener arread are synonomous the horse-and-buggy. On the contrary, opeller-driven aircraft, if flown at jet alti-ies, are capable of speeds very close to those w being attained by jets.

The report of an investigating committee report of the committee should be ample the Senate into the 1952 Senate election in warning to New Mexico officials to improve warning to New Mexico officials to improve voting conditions in that state. New Mexico is not the only state in the country where is not the only state in the country where there are voting irregularities, but in New Mexico they have been brought to light, and the picture is not a pretty one.

The secret ballot is a must if democracy is to be maintained and the committee report that 55,000 non-secret ballots had been east in New Mexico is the most serious indictment in the report.

Committee Oversteps

The House Appropriations Committee recently overstepped its responsibilities we think, in trimming the Administration's public housing program. Regardless of whether the cut in the program was justified, or sound, or not, we do not believe it is the business of the Appropriations committee to write such legislation.

The functions of the Manya Appropriations continued to the Appropriations of the Manya Appropriations o or not, we do not believe it is the business of the Appropriations committee to write such legislation.

The functions of the House Appropriations Committee—and its Senate counterpart—is to pass on appropriations bills. What is the use to have a House Baiking and Currency Committee, which is charged with the responsibility of passing on housing legislation, if the Appropriations Committee is going to decide what the housing program is to be?

Likewise, that question could be raised on many issues. If the House Appropriations Committee is going to decide what amount of money the Army, Navy and Air Force should have, why have an Armed Services Committee in each house?

The missues of the great power of passing on appropriations is a subject which members of Congress will ventually have to look into. The Armed Services Committee on authorize the expenditure of two billion dollars for jet and rocket aircraft, but if the Appropriations Committee doesn't think the country needs any jet and rocket aircraft, it can refuse to appropriate a dime.

The Appropriations Committee certainly has a tough job in screening appropriations and make every economy. But there is a line between that and deciding policy which should be left to committees charged with the responsibility of setting policy in their fields. The House Appropriation committees has stepped over this line, in our opinion.

WHAT PEOPLE WILL DO:
Queen Elizabeth II and the entire Royal Family of England face a personal crisis for survival of the Divine Right of Kings this coming summer and fall, The British Labor Party through the Left Wing influence will make a staunch and well-organized effort to remove the Royal Family from power and save the British Commonwealth the almost unbellevable cost of maintaining this antiquated form of government and therefore feed the many hungry and underprivileged millions who remain in actual want. A personal seandal will also take a toll of public respect involving two members of the Family plus the now-heigs-formated-plans of moving the entire government to Canada in an effort to save outright secession of that Dominion. KINSEY REPORT DEBUNKED BY EXPERTS

This reporter, upon returning from Korea, denounced the "Kinsey Report on Women" from the point of view of its harmful effect upon thousands of married men'in our Armed Forces. In this column we criticized hungry-circulation magazines for sensationalizing Kinsey's ensent. The fact that the Kinsey's findings, with Kinsey's consent. The fact that the Kinsey-statistics were immediately questioned by medical experts did not deter the magazine and book-promotion experts. They took advantage of every sex-sensationalized trick in the book to jack up sales. Our married men in Korea read in U. S. magazines such typical headlines as: "25% of Married Women Unfathful to Husbands During Long Absences from Home." The fact that Dr. Kinsey and his researchers interviewed less than 6000 women (most of them of questionable stability and reputation) was not emphasized. Dr. Kinsey conveyed the impression, that a tlahough his statistics were "not all-conclusive," they represented an exhaustive research of many years into the sex life of women, He and his staff tested less than 6000 women and amnounced that it represented "the most exhaustive study on the sex habits of women, of our generation." In other words, at least by implication, Dr. Kinsey told us that this "stupendous undertaking gives a fair cross-section of 60,000,000 women, From my total ignorance on the subject comes what might be construed as an equally ignorant conclusion: that Dr. Kinsey's report in all probability might be a fair cross-section of the sex life of the 6000 women he examined and nothing else, But now appear two medical experts who refute even this.

He is author of books and papers on "psychosomatics in gynecology." Drs. Bergler and Kroger are authors of the new book, "Kinsey's Myth of Female Sexuality—the Medical Facts." In this book they accuse Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey of "unfounded statements, false conclusions which must be discarded in the interest of truth." They accuse the Indiana 'sex-scenist' of creating "fallacies and misinformation" and causing much public harm, particularly among public harm, particularly among public harm, particularly among the emotionally ill and morally unstable, because the "unscienutific public cannot check the facts and make the proper evaluations." They published this reply to Dr. Kinsey because "we felt that a professional clarification was essential to the public."

The remaining 11 of the "12 The remaining 11 of the "12 false premises" refer to Dr. Kinsey's underrating of the female as just another kind of animal, whose behavior may be explained by the biological and zoological standards of which Dr. Kinsey is more familiar. This underrating of women stems from Kinsey's "ginorance of or disregard for, psychological facts and from his personal emotional disbellef in the unconscious mind of all humans."

personal emotional dissense in the unconscious mind of all humans."

Sex Mostly Emotional

The doctors accuse Kinsey of ignorance of the emotional and psychological factors in volved in the sex-life of women. Kinsey's conclusion that love in humans is sensual only is absolutely false. "Love," the doctors state, "in normal, cultured persons, as distinguished from animals, has a tender, romantic emphasis which Kinsey's completely overlooks." Kinsey's contention that the stability of marriage is based on the special 'police-force' of social custom and legal restraints is wrong, for there are strongemotional-ties above and beyond the sex-act, They refute Kinsey's theories that the only natural purpose of human-sex is biological for reasons of procreation. "Actually," the doctors state, "nature is more generous than Kinsey... for nature adds blissful pleasure to sex."

tors state, "nature is more generous than Kinsey... for nature adds bilissful pleasure to sex."

Accuse Kinsey of Blas
Drs. Bergler and Kroger categorically refute Kinsey's conclusion that the human body functions sexually independently of the human mind. They accuse him of ignoring the medical facts of mind over body in the study of general data of mind over body in the study of sychosomatics, Because Kinsey's research on sex falls short of the "ideal" does not mean that the ideal is wrong and should be discarded. Kinsey's claim that he sees no difference between hormal sexual behavior and neurotic sexual behavior, the doctors call plain "silly." Kinsey, they say, ignores the "counterfelt-sex" of neurotics which causes them to consider such diseases as homosexuality, self-stimulation, sex potency disturbances, frigidity in women, either as "normal," or as 'signs of health."

Flaws in Kinsey's

Statistics

This columnist is interested in the medically-selentific conclusions of Doctors Bergler and Kroger because their training and achievements make them authorities on the subject. Also because this column will be published in papers in the Far East and Europe and will be read-by thousands of our married troops to help offset some of the damage the Kinsey'report imposed upon them and upon their wives back home. It should also awaken the reader to the danger the Kinsey report imposed upon them and upon their wives back home. Here are my conclusions on the apparent errors in the research itself taken from Dr. Kinsey's own report:

1. Over 75 per cent of Kinsey's female-volunteers attended college, whereas the national average is about 7 per cent.

2. Out of the 48 states only 10 were included in the sampling, indicating methodological errors of the first magnitude in the research itself.

3. Devout feligious groups. Catholics, Protestants, Jews, were not included, be cau se most such people refused to talk to the professors.
