Disney Artist Draws 'Alice in Marineland'

"Alice in Marineland," as depicted by Milt Kahl, one of Walt Disney's top animators, will guide judges in their selection of the young girl who'll preside over opening festivities of the Marineland of the Pacific, scheduled for mid-July.

"Because there have been so many and varied artists' conceptions of the fictional 'Alice,' since she was created nearly 80 years ago by Author Lewis Carroll, we felt we should establish a modern version to assist our judges," Ray Smith, vice-president, explained.

Kahl has been named to be one of the five contest judges. The competition is open to girls throughout the Southland, between 10 and 13 years of age. All will be automatically entered upon receipt of a recent snapshot, together with information giving name, address, telephone, school and grade, by the sponsors. Material should be addressed to Oceanarium, Inc., Portuguese Bend, on or before June 11. Only photographs accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope may be returned. Winner will receive a valuable prize.

Judging of finalists is scheduled for June 21, in time for "Alice" to reign over the opening of her wonderland of undersea life at Marineland.

The $3,000,000 scientific and educational Oceanarium project will feature some 5000 specimens of marine life, which the public may view through large glass windows surrounding the giant tanks harboring them. It is anticipated Marineland of the Pacific will become one of the nation's top tourist attractions.

Toll Dialing Hails New Telephone Era

A new era in long-distance communications will start for Torrance telephone users shortly after midnight Saturday when Pacific Telephone places into service its $4b million operator toll dialing machine in Los Angeles.

Special switching equipment has been installed and tested in the Cravens Ave. telephone office that ties into the huge electronic device permitting long distance operators to place calls for customers direct to distant cities without the help of other operators along the route or at the destination.

Most long-distance calls will go through in less than a minute, Manager Dick Pyle said this week, and many will be completed in a matter of only a few seconds.
