

RARE BLOSSOM . . . Mrs. John W. Leenhouts, of 24402 Los Codona Ave., WALTERIA, celebrated the night of July 4 at home watching a rare blossom on a night-blooming Cereus, a member of the cactus family. The plant, cared for by Mrs. Leenhouts for a number of years, bloomed overnight and the blossom wilted away with the coming of dawn. When it will bloom again no one can say.

Walterians Off On 4th of July Jaunts

By BETTY MITCHELL, Davenport 6-4488

Another big week-end is over and all of us have settled down to the business of another week's living. Many Walterians took advantage of the week-end holiday and took off for the ocean, mountains, or desert. Among the lucky ones were the Willie McFarlands of Danaha St. who, with a number of friends, enjoyed a camping trip to the mountains. The McFarlands and their two daughters, accompanied by the C. W. McFarlands of Los Angeles, the J. F. McFarlands and daughter of Inglewood, the George Todds of Hermosa Beach, all went to their camp above Big Bear. Had a wonderful time in spite of one of the cars running out of that necessary fuel, gasoline, and a long wait for the gas station to open. Heading for the desert were Mr. and Mrs. William Burgener of Neece Ave.; who spent the week-end at Mojave visiting friends and relatives. Then the Ray Coopers and "Pat" Bowens of our fair community headed for the mountains, ending up at Henshaw for two days and then going on up to Lake Wohlford a little above Henshaw. The only thing that bothered them was all that water—and no swimming allowed. Swimming would have been just the ticket in the heat. The Robert Cramers of Los Codona spent the Fourth of July celebrating with some friends in the valley, where they enjoyed a luscious dinner.

This Sunday will be a big event for Walteria. Ground-breaking ceremony for the new Community Methodist Church on Newton St. is set for 11 a.m., with everyone interested cordially invited to attend. Adults are urged to bring shovels and the small fry to bring their little shovels, so that everyone may feel they have an active part in helping start the church. The program planned includes a hymn by the youngsters of the church—"This is My Father's World." Short addresses will be given by Mayor Mervin Schwab of Torrance and various church officials who have worked to make this new church a success. A hymn solo will be sung by Buell Thomas. Following the ground-breaking, the anthem "O Praise the Lord" by Lee Ellis.

will be presented by the church choir. Following the ground-breaking everyone is invited to join in a pot luck luncheon to be held at the recreation hall. Each family is to bring fried chicken, while the WSCS will furnish salad, dessert, and beverage.

The chickenpox is on a rampage for sure. Sandra Bowen of Danaha St. and Mary Lou Beers of Newton St., and Cathy Beck of Raintree Ave. are all suffering from the little bumps. Speaking of chickenpox reminds me that measles are still busy around here and that Doug Lytle has just recovered from a bout with them.

Breakfast guests at the home of Mrs. Margaret Dowd of Neece Ave. on Sunday morning were Mr. and Mrs. George Spaulding of Newton St.

Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton and daughter Georgia of Dalemead St. recently went to visit Mrs. Littleton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christianson, in Terra Bella, which is near Baker.

Welcome guest at the William Simpson home is Bill's sister from up north. She plans to spend a couple of weeks visiting here in balmy California.

Home last Friday from a glorious week's honeymoon in the Redwoods were Joanne and George Stark, who are now at home in their house on Danaha St.

Mrs. Helen Herrera journeyed to San Diego and Coronado last July 1 to see her son, Skippy, off for overseas. He is on an aircraft carrier and has just completed boot training. After stops at Pearl Harbor and Japan, the ship will go to Korea. Skippy is son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Herrera.

WEATHER

Think it's been hot? Well, it has been worse, but it's been quite a while, according to Fire Department temperature records. For this week, the log shows:

	High	Low
Monday	78	58
Tuesday	82	60
Wednesday	80	60

Salvation Army Appeals For Money To Send Kids To Camp

With the opening of Camp Mt. Crags in the Malibu mountains this week, the Salvation Army has appealed for voluntary contributions to supply campships for 1600 needy boys and girls who are unable to pay for a week at camp.

Mr. Earl B. Gilmore, chairman of the Salvationist advisory board, directed the appeal to friends and supporters of the camp in an effort to raise $32,000 for campships plus additional funds to improve camp facilities and grounds.

Because Mt. Crags camp serves many communities of Southern California aside from the Los Angeles metropolitan area, it is not included among the Salvationist agencies supported by the Los Angeles Community Chest.

"Most of the youngsters in our constituency cannot afford to pay the $16 weekly camp fee at Mt. Crags," Gilmore explained. "Some of them can't, or have their fees and others are unable to make any payment."

"The value of citizenship developed through the moral and helpful influences of the camp more than offsets the donations which our friends give toward the support of these kids during a summer week."

Those desiring to assist may send a campship check in any amount to the Salvation Army, 832 W. Ninth St., Los Angeles 15.

Applications from youngsters desiring to attend camp, whether or not they are able to pay the camp fee, are being taken at the Salvation Army headquarters, or by telephone to TRINITY 5571.
