

Plan Open House At New Highway Patrol Academy

"Progress of Police Work" will be the theme of the Open House program at the new California Highway Patrol Academy, according to an announcement released this week by B. R. Caldwell, commissioner of the Patrol.

"The public is cordially invited and urged to attend when the ultra-modern training plant for traffic officers is opened to public inspection between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6," the commissioner stated.

Among the many exhibits are new and old models of school buses, a safety education display, a technical exhibit of testing, weighing and radio equipment, and scale models of motor trucks.

Tours of the Academy buildings and grounds, including the completely equipped pistol range have been planned for visitors. Inspector Ralph B. Sutton, Highway Patrol training officer and commanding officer of the academy, will supervise the open house. He will be assisted by other officers and the entire academy staff.

The new academy is located on the Meadowview Farm Rd. midway between Franklin Blvd. and Freeport Rd., south of the center of Sacramento.
