City Drops Plan To Build Park, Ball Field On Old Dump Land

May Put Diamond In Central Park With New Civic Center

Contrary to former plans, the city will not build a park and hardball diamond on property at Western Ave. and Plaza del Amo, formerly the city dump, but will sell the land and apply the money to other civic improvements, City Manager George Stevens announced this week.

Stevens said the section of bleachers remaining behind home plate will probably be torn down this winter.

The city plans to install portable bleachers to replace the present seats, but Stevens doubts whether they will be in before next season.

The old bleachers are being removed as a safety precaution because dry rot has set in. The bleachers that have been torn down at Torrance Park were used by the Little Leaguers this summer.

Future plans call for converting the baseball field into a picnic grounds and building softball diamonds and tennis courts where the field now lies. Stevens believes that the present diamond involves a lot of territory for the number of people who play baseball, and says that the land could be put to better use by a greater number of people if picnic tables were installed.

Editors and advertising men are now preparing this outstanding edition in which will appear pictures and comprehensive articles tracing Torrance's 41-year history as a community founded by Jared Sidney Torrance. All types of manufacturing from the huge General Petroleum refinery, National Supply shops, Columbia Steel furnaces, and D. & M. First Methodist Church To Fete Anniversary

The First Methodist Church of Torrance will celebrate its 30th anniversary with a Homecoming and a Founder's Day gathering on Sept. 13 at the church, El Prado and Manuel Ave.

Invitations have been sent to former members and friends of the church who have moved from the community. Climaxing the celebration will be an historical pageant—"Endless Line of Splendor"—which will depict the march of Methodism from its founder, John Wesley, in England in the 18th century, down through the establishment of the church in Torrance.

The pageant will conclude with a revelation of future building plans for the church. The present building, constructed at a cost of $8000 in 1923, is now valued at $60,000.

The anniversary day will begin with morning worship services at 9 and 11 a.m. The Rev. Stanley Creighton, pastor of the Arlington Methodist Church in Riverside and son of William Creighton, a charter member and first trustee of the local church, will deliver the sermons at these services.

At noon, the congregation will share in a potluck dinner in the El Prado Park, and the historical pageant will follow at 2:30 p.m.

Included in the present congregation of 700 are five charter members of the church: William Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. David Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoerr.

DAV Chapter Gives Hospital $50 Check

A $50 check to be used to buy rehabilitation supplies for the tubercular ward at Harbor General Hospital was turned over to hospital officials here Monday by J. C. Caldwell, service officer of the South Bay Chapter 92 of the Disabled American Veterans.

Part of the chapter's program of helping rehabilitate disabled veterans, the check marked the fourth time such an amount had been given to the hospital for that purpose, Caldwell said.

Accepting the check was Mrs. Carolyn Brim, director of occupational therapy at the hospital. She said the money would be used to purchase leather supplies, lacing, yarn, special woods, arts and crafts supplies, and other material which can be utilized by the patients in physical therapy work.

New Workshop On hand to witness the check presentation was A. L. Thomas, director of the hospital. Thomas said that the hospital now has a workshop which has been developed considerably during the past three or four months and that Emil Settlege, a member of the South Bay DAV, is now on duty full time in the shop to assist patients with their rehabilitation.

Supplies are sold to the patients who make articles they hope to sell, Mrs. Brim said. In this way, the money set up to purchase materials is maintained as a revolving fund, she said.

"We give this money to the hospital because we feel that an idle person is the most dangerous person in the world."
