No More 3-Day Fishing Permits

Once-a-year fishermen are reminded that special three-d ay Pacific Ocean fishing licenses are no longer being issued by the California Department of Fish and Game and its license agencies.

The law establishing these licenses expired Sept. 9, the legal 91-day period after the end of the 1953 session of the State Legislature. Regular full-year angling licenses will now be needed by all ocean fishermen except those using public piers. License officer G. L. O'Leary stated that 15,900 people bought the 51 licenses in 1952. He is hopeful that the Legislature will reinstate the three-day permit at its next-session.
