

THE TORRANCE HERALD BELIEVES IN TORRANCE

Torrance properly has been called "The City of Industrial Opportunity." It is also the city of opportunity in many other ways.

The amazing growth of Torrance in the last few years didn't just happen. The factors that have attracted investors to this city (fifth largest in area in Los Angeles County) are present today in ever increasing appeal.

Torrance has climate second to none in the Los Angeles area.

Torrance has great industries of a highly diversified character employing every type of skilled workman, scientist and engineer. The workshops are near at hand for those who would enjoy healthy, happy living within a few minutes drive of their places of employment.

Torrance has a well developed community life with splendid schools and churches and a well organized system of government.

Torrance has parks and playgrounds and a bathing beach on the blue Pacific. It is within easy reach of year round sports and recreation areas that hundreds of thousands of visitors come hundreds of miles to enjoy.

Torrance is a good place in which to live, work, trade, and play. That is why THE TORRANCE HERALD believes in Torrance and intends to grow with Torrance.
