Students Advised to Seek Jobs 'Down on the Farm'

Although there are no summer farm jobs for students available at the present, there may be work picking green beans within two or three weeks, according to Eddie Walther, manager of the Farm Labor office in Gardena.

High school and college students may register at the office at 16407 S. New Hampshire Ave., Gardena. All students under 18 who have not graduated from high school must have work permits.

Girl Scouts Turn El Nido into Indian Ceremonial

El Nido Park was transformed into Camp Unilivi this week as the Centinela Valley Girl Scout Council set up their annual encampment. Eight troops are already on the grounds and others are expected to follow before the weekend.

Meaning "Place of Friends," Camp Unilivi centers around Indian activities. Mrs. A. L. Chapman of Lawndale, an Oneida Indian, will instruct the intermediate scouts in basket making, bead work, sand painting and other arts of the tribe. An Indian Corn dance, patterned after the Santa Domingo Indians of Simpson, Pueblo, will be featured tomorrow morning, June 25, as part of an Indian Corn Festival.

Six-Week Drama Workshop Planned for Harbor Tech

A newly formed six-week drama class at Harbor Junior College at Pacific Coast Hwy. and Figueroa St. starts July 6. Classes will be held every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m.

Headed up by Dan D. Desmond, former drama instructor at Torrance HI, the course offers an excellent opportunity for those interested in any phase of show business or personality development.

Subjects covered include basic stage technique, stage presence, make-up (both street and stage), and actual practice in dramatic and comedy skits and excerpts. Any special individual problems will receive prompt attention. The six-week session will end up with a two-hour show involving a one-act play, skits, etc.

Roths Plans To Build New Super Market

Another Roth's Super Food Market will be constructed at National and Sepulveda Bivds., Los Angeles, with the official grand opening slated for this fall. Milton Katz and Ben Roth, co-directors of the Southern California Food Chain, announced yesterday.

Enccompassing some 30,000 sq. ft., the new Roth's unit is being designed by George Novikoff, architect in charge. According to Roth, it will include every modern convenience for shoppers' comfort.

A complete air conditioning system, daylight scientific lighting, wide aisles, and 12 check stands will facilitate the most desirable surroundings for the most particular homemaker, he said.

Another outstanding point of interest, it was revealed, will be the mammoth parking area designed to handle capacity crowds at the peak shopping hours.

The new Roth's super market will be number seven in the chain that opened its first unit over a quarter century ago under the direction of the late Aaron Roth.

Newest addition to the group will maintain its consistent policy of bringing the housewife outstanding food values in every department seven days of the week, Roth said.

Longren Aircraft Honors 27 Residents

Twenty-seven Torrance residents received two, five, and ten-year service pins at a party at the Longren Aircraft Company Saturday.

Hampden Wentworth, president of the company, addressed the group. About 200 people were present. Of the awards presented, half went to Torrance residents.

Play Program Open In City

Director of Recreation Harry Van Bellehen has announced that there will be plenty of facilities for children in parks and playgrounds in the city during the summer months.

The recreation program officially began last Monday in four parks and eight school playgrounds throughout Torrance. Training in woodshop, ceramics, flower making, metal work and jewelry making are just some of the things that will be offered.
