NEWLY-MARRIED . . . Miss Marjorie Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross P. Chambers of 1423 Amapola Ave., chose embroidered white organdy for her bridal costume last Sunday when she exchanged vows with Donald H. Creeger at the Palos Verdes Neighborhood Church. The newly-weds are making their home at 2203 Rocking Horse Rd., San Pedro, and plan to take a honeymoon journey to San Francisco in October.

OFFICIATE TONIGHT
Past matrons and past patrons will fill all stations tonight when Torrance Chapter No. 380, Order of the Eastern Star, holds its regular monthly meeting at the Masonic Temple, 1321 1/2 Sartori Ave.
Gladys Mothersell and Frederick Cook will preside in the East, while presiding during the business session will be Worthy Matron Florence Viellenave and Worthy Patron Vincent Viellenave.
Miss Phyllis Peverley, associate matron of the Chapter, is chairman for the evening. All members of the Chapter and visiting members of the Order are invited to attend.

Club To Hear Of Writing

A lecture on "Creative Writing" will feature tomorrow night's 8 o'clock meeting of The Aquarians, to be held at the Neptunian Club, 920 Highland Ave., Manhattan Beach.
Mrs. Melville Chater, instructor in creative writing at Palos Verdes College, will deal with the psychology of the field and explain how to establish an atmosphere which will stimulate the artistic production.
An author of poetry and nonfiction who also has ballets in production, Mrs. Chater holds a B.A. degree from the University of British Columbia. Many of her students have won awards with their stories and articles.
The public is invited to attend, and there is no admission charge. Further information may be obtained by calling FR 4-7798 or FR 2-9869.

Alarm Clocks to Change Fiestadores Fun Agenda

It will take prompt, time-conscious Los Fiestadores to keep up with the fun-packed schedule planned for tomorrow night as the club opens its fall season, according to Mrs. C. A. Woodcock, press chairman.

At 8 o'clock, pre-dance parties will be held at the homes of executive officers for all members. The leaders at this time will be entertaining couples who have not been feted before, thus giving all an opportunity to become better acquainted, Mrs. Woodcock revealed.

Alarm clocks will bring the pre-dance festivities to a close at 9:30 o'clock, then all guests will journey to the Portuguese Bend Clubhouse for a "carnival time" dance. Planning decorations for the gala event are the Homer St. Martins, E. E. Wilsons, C. H. Ragsdales, and W. M. Montgomerys.

Following the edict of invitations sent out the previous week:

- Men will wear the loudest of shirts,
- Women will wear the brightest of skirts.

Alarm clocks will ring again at 12:30 o'clock giving the signal for the formation of a motor caravan back to Torrance, where the crowd will gather at The Palms for breakfast.

Lomita Park Setting for PTA Program Planning Meet

A potluck luncheon and board meeting brought out the leaders of Harbor City PTA to Lomita Park last week. While children romped and played, mothers ratified new chairmen and set up the program slate for the coming year, charting the first Association meeting for next Thursday, Sept. 23.

Session will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the topic "Begin Today to Get Acquainted." Executive board members will be the hostesses, introducing teachers to parents, and a social hour will climax the evening.

The following Monday, Sept. 27, Johnnie Strong's Circus will be at the school to provide fun for the children and add to the PTA welfare fund. Another

TREAT NEW PARENTS

Parents of children enrolling for the first time at Harbor City School were treated to coffee and doughnuts last Monday by the school PTA, continuing an annual project of the executive board to acquaint the new parents with the school, teachers, and PTA.

Assisting with the serving and registration of new students were Misses G. S. Andretti, D. G. Cheek, Ray Groover, Michael Travers, and James Alexander.

money-maker, a rummage sale, is set for Oct. 1, and on Oct. 11 the Association members will make a tour of a bakery.

The annual Halloween Carnival will be held Oct. 29, while on Nov. 8 the Association will sponsor a rummage sale. A marionette show on Feb. 7 will begin spring activities, and the open house program on Mar. 31 will feature a spaghetti dinner.

Another paper and rag drive will be held on May 2, and the year will wind up with a spring festival on May 27.

Program was drawn up by the chairman, Mrs. D. G. Cheek. Other new chairmen include the following:

Mmes. R. E. Griffith, Red Cross and Community Chest; Ray Leino, honorary life membership; Stephen Silkoteh, achievement evaluation; Charles Hiltzer, Founders' Day; David Trimble, magazines; May Marakumi, publications and emblems; Glenn Deatherage, membership; Dean McIntire, co-membership; William Howell, citizenship; James Alexander, legislation; George Weeks, home service; G. S. Andretti, hospitality; Frank George, co-hospitality; John Gilgren, room mother; Leon Eggers, publicity; Michael Travers, newscrite; Troy Colium, record book; A. G. Sipes, telephone; John McQuire, school education; James Triffon, ways and means; Messrs. Richard Rozendal, youth services; and Robert Metcalf, safety.

Mrs. Charles Hiltzer was unanimously elected treasurer to succeed Mrs. Rozendal, whose resignation was accepted at the meet-

HANDICRAFT . . . Miss Connie Walton, one of 12 Senior Girl Scouts in this area who took the 78-mile hiking trip through the High Sierras this summer, examines two sticks of wood picked up on mountain trails. The smaller piece will be used to make novel buttons; from the larger branch the brown-haired miss will make a link belt.

Local Miss Hikes through Sierras with Senior Scouts

Many teen-age misses may feel that they have outgrown such favorite childhood activities as the Girl Scouts, but not Miss Connie Walton of 1415 Acacia Ave., who reaped the rewards of being a Senior Girl Scout by taking a 78-mile hiking trip through the High Sierras this summer.

The local girl was one of the 12 Senior Scouts chosen from the Los Angeles Council to take part in the 12-day trek. Before hand, there were numerous meetings to decide on menus and purchase supplies, plus two practice overnights. Then the girls traveled by truck to Mono Hot Springs, near Huntington Lake.

"The truck leaned at such an angle up the steep roads that it was like riding a roller coaster," Connie laughed.
At the jumping off place the girls bought fresh fruit and other items for the feed bag they had forgotten while in the city. Mules and burros were packed with the supplies, including 50 lbs. of barley for the animals, and an "emergency" horse was added to the train in case one of the hikers became ill, and the dozen Scouts set off on the Big Circle trail.

First stop on the itinerary was Graveyard Meadow, which gets its name from the number of rounded rocks resembling tombstones which stud the plain. They went on to Gooddale Pass and the Marilyn Lakes, Cascade Valley, Silver Creek, Margaret Lake, and Rock Creek before ending up at Mono Hot Springs again.

At the lakes the girls fished for rainbow trout, and some of the more courageous dipped into the icy waters for an invigorating swim, "but most of us thought it was too cold to swim, in fact we didn't bathe until we got back to Mono," Connie laughed.

The trek was taken at varying altitudes, many over 11,000 feet, and the weather was cold, Connie said. "It was so cold that three of us bundled into one sleeping bag, spreading the other across us for extra warmth. This kept out the cold but the only trouble was, if you wanted to move, you had to wake up the other two girls first!"

Among other Senior Girl Scout activities Connie enjoyed this summer was camping at Big Bear as a "dude." Here she was a counselor-in-training for five weeks, learning the administration side of Girl Scout Work.
