Teen-Age Wiener Bake, Party Highlights Week of Activities

By BETTY MITCHELL DA 6-4488

Last Monday I took my oldest pride and joy by the hand, and joined the ranks of mothers who have "one in school." Yes, those school bells have started ringing for another year, and this time it had a special meaning for our house. 'oo. Off to school we went to see all the little girls, so freshly starched and combed, and the little boys, so unpatched and clean. All those clean and shining faces full of eagerness, and a little bewilderment, too, on the part of the new ones, to find themselves in such a new and different situation.

Teachers, full of smiles and encouragement, bend to the coming tasks with a will. So begins another school year here in our community—and it also might be well while on the subject to remind those of you who are going to be driving cars during school hours to be especially careful for the eager students who may dash across the street without first looking carefully both ways. Also remember those school buses too—the driver cannot control every move of all his many passengers—so do be careful.

So often we are apt to complain about the lack of teen-age recreational facilities in our community, and still not do anything about it, that it is refreshing to learn that some of the adults of our town got together last week, and as a result, a bang-up combination wiener roast and dance for teen-agers was held Saturday at Nickel's Ranch, on Newton St. Fifty-five young people joined in the fun under the combined chaperoning of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gehres, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Gordon, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hunter. The folks all brought their own wieners, and several brought records for music.

May we pause here a moment to give well earned votes of thanks to the Nickels of Newton St. I don't know if many of you readers have noticed the number of gatherings which are held at their ranch. This reporter thinks it only right that the wonderfully generous spirit of these people should be mentioned. Whenever a meeting place is desired for something like the teen-age dance mentioned above, the lovely patio, swimming pool, rumpus room, are turned over very willingly for the use of that group. It's this kind of community spirit and generosity that makes this world a good place in which to live.

Many of you readers would like to know that Dale Wickstrom, a popular young teacher formerly of Walteria School, is now teaching at the Meadow Park School, and that his wife Betty is still winning her battles over the paralysis with which she was afflicted last Christmas. Betty is in the hospital during the week, receiving hours and hours of treatment, and is then able to come home over the week-ends to visit with her family and many friends. A salute to this gallant couple!

With a flapping of wings, that bird flew over our town again to leave a brand new bundle for the Glenn Maxwells of Madison St. The new arrival is Susan Lee Maxwell, who put in her appearance at the Torrance Memorial Hospital on Sept. 9. She tipped the scales at 7 pounds, 7 ounces. This makes four children for the Maxwells—an evenly divided family of two boys and two girls. Needless to say, brother Glenn Jr., 6½ years, and sister Nancy Rae, age 4, are very happy over the prospect of a new baby girl in the family. Brother Jeffrey, age 20 months, hasn't exactly made up his mind whether to be happy about this turn of events or not. At any rate, congratulations to the family, and to the new arrival.

Speaking of new babies, we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Reed McBride of Winlock Rd. are very proud of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grubbs, who have presented them with a grandson, Robert Jr., weighing 7 pounds, 1 oz., and was born on Sept. 9.
