Card of Thanks in Rhyme Repays Firemen's Efforts

Torrance firemen were repaid in a grand way this week for action they normally consider routine while fighting a fire more than three years ago between the series of the firement of the firement of the firement for their heroic actions in searching the home that night to make sure none to make sure none and the night to make sure none no make sure

Mrs. Levesque set down re-ently and put together a card

ed their names.
There first thought was quite sacred, "Is anyone in there?" and even then to make quite sure, they searched with every care.
One gallant fireman stumb-dinn't stop for praise or thanks, their battle had been won.

I found among the debris, some things I thought were gone—My pleture albums, soorched they were were tossed upon the lawn.

True, I saved not many things, but not because of them—The fire did the damage here, the rest was saved by men.

My riches I have none to give, there's but one thing I can do—My heart is In my every work, Firemen from Torrance "Thank You."

The firemen feel they have been amply repald for many, many fires which they have fought through the years.
