"POINT OF BEGINNING"... In a scene from the play, "Point of Beginning," which will be presented before the Torrance Council of United Church Women on May 6, Herm Co-brea, who plays a neighbor, points an accusing finger at Mrs. John L. Taylor and the Rev. Don Shelhy, who portray the parents of Bobby Miller (left). The play is about parents who unwittingly teach their son values which get him into trouble.

For Sunday "Behold, happy is the man whom God corrected:h therefore despise not hou the chastening of the Almighty." This verse from Joh (517) is the Golden Toxt of the Sunday Lesson-Ser-mon on "Everlasting Punish-ment" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The necessity of overcoming sin in order to escape its penal-ties is stressed by Christ Jesus in John's Gospel (514). After healing the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda, "Jesus find-eth him Inte temple and sald into him. Behold, thou art made whole: sin morre lest a worse thing come unto the." In corrective passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes, "Jesus headed sick-ness and sin by one and the same metaphysical process." "The great fact that God loving, y governs all, never punishing point, from which to advance and destroy the human fear of sickness." (pp. 210, 412)
