

EL CAMINOTES

No one has believed for a moment that the El Camino Warriors lightly regarded the Bakersfield Renegades, rated the No. 1 junior college grid machine of the nation. Apparently the Renegades held much the same feeling for the Warriors.

The anticipated Saturday night clash between the two teams climaxed a rigorously directed series of practices and games—and the fact that El Camino was gambling the Metropolitan Conference lead when they met the Renegades was of major importance to the local squads. That and rumors of a hostile attitude being displayed by the Bakersfield campus toward the Warrior school paved the way for Saturday's "titanic."

When one realizes what this game meant to so many Camino fans, it's not hard to see why the locals became furious when told they were being given only 750 reserved seats in Bakersfield's new stadium, seating 17,500.

At the pep rally Thursday afternoon, Student Body President Dick Duffey threw open his thoughts on the subject and fired, gulped, shot, roared, and hissed his ideas to the northern rivals in a most bombarding presentation: enough to make many wonder if even Bakersfield could have heard him.

Then Coach Norm Verry stepped to the microphone and re-enacted the scene bringing a terrific response from the listening students. Well, now all ECC was ready to go north to meet their rival hosts.

Although the parking area looked like 50 acres easy, it was none too spacious considering all Bakersfield turn out for the games. All the farms are deserted and various business's close to attend all the college's contest. And especially this one!

First Half—The Renegades showed their stuff by consistent rugged looking ground plays and consistent gains. However, fumbling they frequented and not always were they the fortunate ones to recover. Camino did little more than hold them during these two quarters.

Second Half—In this period the Warriors began dominating the ball. They knew they'd have to take to the air to get around their opposite's stubborn defense. Fourth quarter the Renegades looked haggard and it was all they could do to prevent a Warrior touchdown. More than once the northern fans got the scare of their life as Warriors' deeply penetrated their line.

It all ended too soon for the fans. As the Bakerfieldians went back to their crops, ECC stayed for a quick and enthusiastic pep rally. They stood for Coach Norm, who smilingly said "I'm glad your as proud of them as we (the coaches) are."
