28 Youngsters Make Fast Work Of 150 Pancakes at Breakfast

By BETTY MITCHELL
DA 6-4138

Twenty-eight young people were ruddy awakened and "tid napped" on a recent Saturday morning when the Intermediate MYF held a pancake breakfast at the home of the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney of Ave. A.

Evidence of the hearty appetites was the disappearance of nine quarts of milk, 150 pancakes, 3½ pounds of bacon, and two quarts of orange juice.

Finishing it fun to get up and out on a Saturday morning were La. Dean Lantry, Richard Hardesty, Donna Adams, Sandra Anderson, Joy Behling, Sharon Pulliam, Douglas Hardesty, Mike Karlson, Bob Whittly, Jan Stanley, Gordon Noble, Dennis Higgins, Sandra Osburn, Sam Mazarevich, Bill Brooks, Bobbie Moton, Beverly Parks, Wanda Wands, Barbara Wolfe, Carla Cramer, Carole Jarrett, Carol Hertzog, Virginia Deuel, Marica Daniels, Carolyn Cummings, Lorraine Maynes, Collette Holst, and Jim Grimm.

The J.F.F. Club held its regular meeting last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ida Haun, of Ward St.

Ten members were there to enjoy the gathering, with Mrs. Helen Conze presiding in the absence of president Mrs. Louella Lassen. The club made plans for its annual Christmas party which will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Kelly, Park St. on Dec. 20. The party will feature fun and games, fopped off with a pot-luck buffet spread.

At the November meeting, Mrs. John Minor was in charge of games, with Bunco being the mainstay of the evening. Walking off with first prize was Bessie Slomaker, while Georgia Cramer won second. The other prize was won by Mrs. Nell Crovella. Edith Buckingham was the lucky winner of the raffle. After the fun was over, Mrs. Haun served delicious apple pie with strawberry ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beck, of Raintree St., had a wonderful time last Saturday when they took their two little daughters to Santa Claus Village near Lake Arrowhead.

The two little girls were fascinated with the brightly colored houses, the herd of lambs shepherded by a costumed little girl, the sleigh ride, and the many other gay features of that fairy-land. The day was made perfect by a fresh snow-fall.

It will be a gay Thanksgiving Day indeed at his Raintree St. home when Dea Bryant visits it for a wonderful home-cooked meal after many months of hospitalization.

Bryant is going to be able to come home for the day to visit with his family. It is hoped that before too many more months roll around that he will be able to come home for good. He underwent very serious spinal surgery in two separate operations in June.

A surprise visitor, who is very welcome indeed, is the one at the home of Mrs. Polly Moorhead, of Dalemead St. Polly came home last week to find her mother, Mrs. A. A. Stewart, waiting for her. Mrs. Stewart is from Pampa, Tex.

For those of you who enjoy inspirational music during the Christmas season, there will be no finer opportunity than the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" to be presented on Dec. 4 at the Torrance Lutheran Church on Carson St. at 4 p.m. About 100 voices, composed of members from the choir of Torrance-Lomita-Walteria area will present the Christmas music under the direction of Frank Owen of St. Paul's Cathedral in Los Angeles.

The Wilbur McFarland home on Danaha St. has been visited with a lot of illness recently, as all three of their girls were victims of the old virus bug.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. McCaw will spend their week-end visiting friends in Ventura. The McCaws live on Neece Ave.

Geron Kettering is taking a four day vacation from the Newbury Academy near Ventura to spend Thanksgiving day with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kettering.

Enjoying the annual "Harvest Breakfast" given by the L. A. County Library each year were Mrs. Mollie Dowd, of Neece Ave. and Mrs. Ethel Mosley, of Ward St. The ladies spent the morning at the Terrace Room of the Statler Hotel last Wednesday.

Among the boys getting awards were: Denner's stripe—Howard Collins, Jimmy Davis. Assistant denner's stripes—Jerry Brewer, Richy Larsen. Wolf badge—Howard Collins. Boy badge—Lee Pearson, Stephen Chmara, Johnny McLaughlin. Lion badge—Douglas Rowell. Gold Arrow—Lee Pearson. Silver Arrow—Jimmy Davis. Donny Dodds. One-year pin—Roger Balcom, Lee Pearson, Johnny Davis, Bill Roberts, Jerry Frislie, Louie Kujlis. Two-year pin—Balke Richardson.

Sailors Back From Sea Duty

Two sailors, Charles R. Harper, fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Harper, of 18522 Ermanita St., and Richard L. Hammock, engineman fireman, son of Mrs. Anna M. Baker, of Harbor City, recently returned to the mainland after overseas duty with Destroyer Division 72.

Harper served aboard the USS Laws, while Hammock was at sea with the USS Taussig.

The division, returning after a six-month cruise in the Far East, participated in the Formosa patrol, convoy routing exercises and assisted in instructing members of the Chinese Nationalist Navy.

Ports of Call included Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; Yokosuka, Sasebo and Kyushu, Japan; Midway and Hong Kong, China.

Almost 100 guests enthusiastically enjoyed the raffle dance held last Saturday evening at the Nickell Ranch on Newton St. when the Walteria Business Men held their annual affair.

Twelve of the luscious big birds were awarded lucky winners during the evening of fun. J. A. Beasley was chairman of the event this year.

Mr. Ed Rowell wishes to extend a than you to all the people who so willingly labored here to make the Community Chest such a success in our town. Our area went 22½ percent over the goal, helping Torrance to be the first Bay City to go over the goal for the Chest.

Last Friday night was a big night for Cub Scout Pack 240-C. They held their pack meeting in the school auditorium.

The boys displayed items of craft and handiwork, and presented an interesting program including skits, to the many parents attending.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a plaque, designed by the pack, to Ed Rowell, in recognition of his faithful service as scoutmaster for the past two years. He will be replaced by Bill Addison.

Denner's stripe—Howard Collins, Jimmy Davis. Assistant denner's stripes—Jerry Brewer, Richy Larsen. Wolf badge—Howard Collins. Boy badge—Lee Pearson, Stephen Chmara, Johnny McLaughlin. When they complete their six months of active duty, the volunteers will return to hometown reserve and National Guard units. What they have learned will be used to train other reservists in keeping the military might of the country strong.

And what they learn depends upon how they are trained.

Men Face Fire
Hot and sweaty, the men have crawled over barriers, and under barbed wire fences on the dusty Ft. Ord infiltration course, while machine guns and simulated artillery fire blasted around them.

They've gotten up at unaccustomed hours for the average 17 to 18½-year-old youth, to go on marches with heavy field packs upon their shoulders.

They've had hours and hours

Tough Basic Training Course at Fort Ord Transforms Boy into Man

Just how tough is the training which is being given to reservist who volunteered for six months of active duty under the new Armed Forces Reserve Act?

Ask any one of the Western states conscripts who are taking their basic training at Ft. Ord and they'll all yell out that it's rough, real tough, but just the kind of training they want and need.

Adjusting to the routine of Army life has been hard for long marches with full field packs, rugged physical training and hours upon hours of detailed instruction in military subjects has been the daily diet for the group from the first weeks of basic training.

Men Acustomed Now
Now in their sixth week of training with Company A, 20th Infantry Regiment, (Spikes Regulars), the men are accustomed to Army life for the most part. And they're all a little happy that the basic training is almost over.

But each man admits that the training, however rough, has done a lot for him.

"We've learned a lot in these past few weeks," said one soldier, "and we've learned it harder than most recruits. We've learned from combat veterans of World War II and Korea. They've put us through a great deal but we feel it's better to learn to take it than be a sitting duck in some foxhole on the battlefield."

Training Rough
The training was designed to be rough. For these reservists, and their counterparts taking training at other Army installations in the country, will become the backbone of America's reserves.

When they complete their six months of active duty, the volunteers will return to hometown reserve and National Guard units. What they have learned will be used to train other reservists in keeping the military might of the country strong.

Men Face Fire
Hot and sweaty, the men have crawled over barriers, and under barbed wire fences on the dusty Ft. Ord infiltration course, while machine guns and simulated artillery fire blasted around them.

They've gotten up at unaccustomed hours for the average 17 to 18½-year-old youth, to go on marches with heavy field packs upon their shoulders.

They've had hours and hours of practice with rifles on the Ft. Ord ranges.

Lectures Given
The men have listened to lectures on military justice, map reading, sanitation and many other military subjects.

They have fought their way through woods and up hills on bivouac.

They've bruised themselves a hundred times during physical training not with just ordinary pushup and calisthenics but rugged hand to hand and body contact.

And in these six weeks, they have become tough, hardened potential combat soldiers.

BOYS FORM Y GROUPS AT CHURCH

A new Gra-Y and Y-Indian Guide tribe have recently been organized at the First Methodist Church, according to Dick Brown, YMCA program director.

Under the leadership of George Kimberly, of 22903 S. Berendo, a Gra-Y club for fourth grade boys is meeting on Tuesday evenings at 7 at the church. The members of the club—William Vessenberg, Jim King, Jack Robison, Larry Champion, Robert Stoneberg, and Steve Kimberly.

A second new group at the church is a Y-Indian Guide tribe for fathers and their first and second grade sons. The next meeting of the group will be held next Monday at 7 p.m. at the church. Lyle Enger is leading the formation of the group.

Indian Guide Tribe Formed

A new father and son Y-Indian Guide Tribe was organized last Thursday at the Madonna School Cafeteria, after Lester Murdock, chief of the Cherokee tribe, discussed the work of his group.

Further plans for the new tribe will be made next Monday night at the home of E. J. Bradford, of 2842 Eldorado.

Men present in the meeting, all fathers of first and second graders were Tom Thornton, A. Champion, Elliot Nahr, Lee Mulheek, Fred Sullivan, Bob Herber, Harry Campbell, Murdock, and Bradford. Further information can be obtained at FA 8-0060 or FA 8-1272.

HOMECOMING COURT . . . Queen Sandra Sherwood, flanked by Princesses Maggie Tate, left, and Jackie Pritchett, will reign over Homecoming activities on the El Camino College campus today. Miss Sherwood and Miss Tate are Ingewood residents; Miss Pritchett is a resident of Gardena. Highlighting the day's program will be the Warrior-Phoenix football game and the Homecoming parade. Activities will start at 11 a.m.

Elks Car Club To Meet Friday To Get Charter

Young car enthusiasts interested in becoming charter members in the world's largest Hot Rod Club, the T-Timers, are being invited to attend an open meeting of the group in the Alan-Richards Hall, above Torrance Bowl, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. This is the newest branch of the T-Timers and is being sponsored locally by the Torrance Elks.

Hal Hild, district organizer, will be present tomorrow evening to explain complete functions of the club, present the charter to the local chapter, and present a display of custom cars and pictures of events put on by the T-Timers. Club sweaters, membership cards, and car plaques will be issued to members.

Frank Burk, youth chairman for the Torrance Elks, reported that 14 new members were admitted last week. New members include Norman Vroom, Larry and Bob Byrd, Norman Meyer, Paul Hufford, Ralph Hreuz, Mike Becken, Gene Cruz, Ron M. Hermeier, Marvin Jones, and Pete Fahstock.

Election of officers will follow administration of the oath to new members tomorrow evening.

The object of the organization, Burk reports, is to establish a shop where members can work on cars or help build a club car. Such shops have been established in Santa Barbara, Santa Monica, San Fernando, and other Southland communities.

Safe and sane driving is the major feature encouraged by the T-Timers.

Former THS Student With Army in Japan

Pvt. James W. Berard, former student, now is stationed with the Army in Japan.

He and several friends recently traveled through the country on motorcycles, visiting Tokyo, Yokohama, Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Pvt. Berard is a clerk at a Kyoto, Japan Army base. Formerly a resident of Torrance, his home now is listed as Ferndale, Wash.

COLLEGE STUDENTS

There were 2,475,000 college students in the U.S. in 1954 compared with 1,364,000 in 1939, an increase of almost double in 15 years.
