Twenty-eight TORRANCE HERALD APRIL 11, 1957

EDITORIALS What Do You Think?

What is the place of grades in an elementary school? A cammittee of citizens and educators now is studying the possibility of restoring the A-B-C system of grading to seventh and eighth grades in order to prepare them for high school. There has been some agitation among parents for this move

One of the members of this committee is HERALD staff Writer Tom Rische.

Writer Tom Rische. At the present time, children from kindergarten through the eighth grade in Torrance schools receive no graded report cards. Instead, parents receive written reports on their child's strengths and weaknesses, and in addition, a conference is held, in which parent and teacher discuss possible factors which might affect Junior's schoolwork. These include such things as handicaps, a broken home, poor home environment, and miscellaneous other factors.

and miscellaneous other factors.  $\dot{\pi} \quad \dot{\pi} \quad \dot{\pi}$ At the Torrance Educational Advisory Committee meet-ing Monday, figures were presented which indicate that more children from broken homes fail to reach the levels of their indicated ability than do children from "happy" homes. In high schools in Torrance, children do receive grades, mainly to satisfy college requirements. The committee has been asked to study this set-up to determine whether the transition from the nongraded to the graded reports should be made while the child is still in elementary school, rather than at the time he enters high school.

Rische has entered upon the committee work with no icular "torch to carry" for either system. narticular

 $\dot{a}$   $\dot{a}$   $\dot{a}$ Facts and figures were presented to the committee, indi-

Facts and figures were presented to the committee, indicating that:
1. Children learn at different rates of speed. If a standard sector will be alsed and some behind.
2. The different parts of a child's physical and emotional system mature at different rates.
3. Physically, girls mature faster than boys.
4. Achild who retains 80 per cent of what he learns for the facts after 10 days and less than 20 per cent after 10.
5. Praise is the best method to get a child to work harder for a while, but he work harder for a while, but he will be helped personally wince it is my husband. His elither of the other two groups.
6. The student who thinks he will be helped personally wince it is my husband. His elither of the other two groups.
Mu work harder at learning than if he thinks it will help only the groups as whole.
A. The student who thinks he will be helped personally wince it is my husband. His elither of the other two groups.
Muse made a different leared of ability, and cannot with the set different leared of ability, and cannot with the set different leared of ability and cannot with the set different leared of ability, and cannot with the set different leared of ability.

work harder at learning than it is times it will help only group as a whole.
7. Each child has a different level of ability and cannot ieve beyond it, no matter how he is prodded. achiev

8. The most honest children are generally the most intelligent, most advanced in school, least suggestible, and come from homes where honesty is stressed.

A child who does poor or average work in his early schooling may "snap out of it" and do quite well in high school or college.

scnool or college. 10. Grades are often a reflection of the teacher's opinion or of her mood at the moment. Different teachers use different methods of grading and different standards for the work. Hence, it would be possible for a student to get an "A" from one teacher and a "C" from another.

*

The tactule and to the motions:  $\hat{\mathbf{r}} \neq \hat{\mathbf{r}} = \hat{\mathbf{r}}$ The committee was presented with a special study which scheme the following conclusions: The believed today that each child should have opport muty to succeed. A child should not grow with an attitude of many cases. When a child is forced and pushed by pressure scheme for success is decreased greatly. The profession what he does and to it with all his being. Schools of today try the same scheme to it with all his being. Schools of today try what he does and do it with all his being. Schools of today try the same scheme to it with all his being. Schools of today try what he does and do it with all his being. Schools of today try the same scheme the or of failure should not be used as the same scheme to keep them interested." The is reasonably safe to say teachers' grades are not interest groups, if the proper attitudes are developed. This interest groups, if the proper attitudes are developed. This interest groups, if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The interest groups, if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper attitudes are developed. The subscheme is groups if the proper att

These factors are all true, but, at the same time, they e certain questions in the mind of many observers. 1. How true is the remark made by one local parent, e parents of the dumb kids don't want grades; the parents he smart kids like grades."?

"The parents of the dumb kids don't want grades; the parents of the smart kids like grades."? 3. The non-grade program is, at least in part, designed to encourage the slower students. Does it also fail to encourage the faster students as much as it might? Are we more worried about developing little Johnny, whose ability will never make bin anything more than a laborer, than about little Billy who is potentially an atomic scientist? If we are, should we be? 3. Because of the absence of graded competition in ele-mentary school, does high school furnish enough preparation for the competition in college and in everyday life, where competition is a byword? 4. Is this "happiness complex." making everybody feel good because he does not receive grades, really challenge him to his utmost in the long run? In terms of school work, what effect does the transition from gradeless to graded report and have occurred to thers with whom it has been discussed. These are some questions which occurred to the HERALD and have occurred to thers with whom it has been discussed. They are not a condemnation of the present system, but merely ideas which seem to be an important part of the program.  $\widehat{x} \quad \widehat{x} \quad \widehat{x}$ How do parents in Torrance feel about grades for seventh and eighth graders? A school survey indicated general astis.

toess which seem to be an important part of the program.  $\Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow$ How do parents in Torrance feel about grades for seventh and eighth graders? A school survey indicated general satis-faction with the reporting system in the lower grades. The HERALD invites readers to comment on the situation. We would welcome readers' views on the grading system in the schools, either pro or con. A just decision cannot be made without considerable evidence on both sides. Readers might consider these questions: 1. How have grades or the lack of them affected your child? Why do you think so? 2. Do you think his getting a grade in the seventh or eighth grade, or in earlier grades, would be helpful to him? Why?

The one up:  $\Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow$ Dear Ann: For crying in the suds will you please get me off the spot? My wife kept me up half the night yelling. She insists I wrote that letter about the woman who went through her old man's pockets at night. So Any comments should be addressed to Editor, Torrance HERALD, 1619 Gramercy Ave., Torrance Calif. It's your child and you who are paying for his education through your taxes. Now you can have your say about his education he's so starg, shame. If I didn't pick up a little change this way I wouldn't have a penny to put in the fuse box in case of emergen-cy. Thanks for letting me have my say, Ann. I feel much better now.--Marge.

Dear Marge: And I'D feel much better if you'd stop putting pennies in the fuse box ... "In case of emergen-cy". In fact, this is a good way to create an emergency. A blown fuse lets you know the circuit is overloaded, and prevents a fire. Brain up, Girl!

Many Women Claim 'Burt' My mother and dad were happily married for m an y years. Dad passed away sev-eral months ago. Their wed-ding anniversary was always a joyous occasion and I won-der if I should send Mother flowers on that day, or per-haps a little gift? What is your advice? — Daughter in Doubt.

Dear Ann Landers: I ak most "flipped my wig" to borrow your phrase) when discosed "Burt." The guy who worde it is my husband. His. Harden anse is Harold. The colossal nerve to with a borney to the colossal nerve to with spockets at hight. Especially since the about may light cough its is because the so stingy it's a cryin share.

assistance, please?—Bert. Dear Bert: Tell your wife if the shoe fits to wear if. How come she's got YOU on the defensive, Buster? I can't prove you DIDNT write the letter, since I never divulge the identity of those who write to me, but she can't prove you DID. There doesn't seem to be much doubt about one thing, however. Your little woman has been engaging in noc-turnal seavenger hunts. And judging, from my mail, this is a mighty popular national pastime. The best gift you can pre-sent your mother on that date is to spend the day with her and perhaps invite a few of her close friends. Don't buy a gift or send flowers. It does not make sense to "cele-brate" the anniversary of a matriage that has been termi-nated by death.

Confidentially: "NELLY BLY": This fellow is inter-ested only in lead in g you down the garden path, and there's nothing "sophisticat-ed" about this approach. Tell him to get lost. pastime,

Dear Ann: I have a ques-tion that may sound stupid, but I haven't found anyone who really knows the answer. Maybe you can help me. (Ann Landers will be happy to help you with your problems. Send them to her are of the HERALD and enclose a stamped, self-ad-dressed enclos), (C) 1957, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Barney Plans New TV Series Last week, I was intro-duced to a lady by the name of Mrs. Starr. "Oh." I re-sponded, "are you the wife of my editor, Mr. Starr, or his mother?" Raising herself to her full height, she re-plied: "Sir, according to the matrimonial bureau records, I am his wife, but according to our day-to-day existence, I am his wife AND his mother."

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

* * *

Bob Vincent asks if we don't love getting a "Wish You Were Here" card mailed from Las Vegas by a fellow who owes you money. * * * know.—Betty. The set of the set

The to married men: there's a way to get the last word--just tell your wife: "Yes, dear." I'm sure that will keep her quiet, because what can she say after that? However, if it doean't work, try saying: "No, dear," and that will be the last word you'll be able to get in.

* * *

When a point of argument is raised, most columnists will present both sides of the question and ask: "Anybody know the answer?" Not Art Ryon. He asks, "Anyone first part in this issue will deal with the problem of why taxes are high . . . and the second part in the next issue of "After Hours" will deal with a plan for reducing taxes by billions without sacrificing de-fense and other essential programs.)

AFTER HOURS by John Morley How to Cut Taxes at Home

Taxes can be reduced by at least $25 Taxes can be reduced by at least $25 billion without endangering American se-curity, without jeopardizing our military defense program, and without eliminating the necessary services of government in its responsibility to the people. Taxes can-not be reduced . . . and will most certainly keep increasing . . . so long as politicians continue to "butter-up" their constituents at home by complying with their ridiculous demands for a thousand things they used to do for themselves.

Selfish and thoughtless millions have Selfish and thoughtless millions have been taught by equally selfish and thought-less politicians to expect more and more from government with no end in sight. It seems apparent that any office holder who advocated reducing the frills and service of government would have a hard time gettiing re-elected. But unless public servants take that gamble with their politi-cal future and tell the people the facts of life, they will be guilty of leading the nation on the inevitable road to bank-ruptey. ruptcy.

* .+ *

About this time each year-millions of taxpayers will have to go into debt to pay their taxes. Each of the past 25 years has reduced the net take-home pay of our people through taxes and through infla-tion. One of the reasons for this destruc-tive inflation is government spending and the increased billions in government spending have been collected by higher and bither taxes from the seme taxes. and higher taxes from the same taxpayers and higher taxes from the same taxpayers. We the people . . . with the aid of many irresponsible bureaucrats . . . have opened the flood-gates leading into an economic crisis and no one seems to know how to stop it. This is what makes our present government financial position so dangerous. Neither Republican nor Demo-crats have the courage to face up to it, for both are committed to more and more spending, with inevitable higher taxes, to pay for the greatest conglomeration of "frills, services, pork barrels, paternalism, politics, bureaucracies" the country has ever seen. politics, b ever seen.

* * · #

THE FREELANCER by Tom Rische

* * *

(Anyone for babying?)

* * *

Just to prove I know what a politician is talking about, I'll describe a politician as a man who thinks twice before he says nothing.

* * *

A A A Don't you just love these showpeople who accept their academy awards and tell the public modestly: "I did not do this alone. I thank the men who made this possible." But when he's in rehearsal, out of the earshot and view-point of the public, he tells the men he works with: "Where would you be with-out me?"

* * *

Remember the guests who used to come to your house and play spin the bottle? Now they drink from the bot-le and let the house spin.

* * * Some folks claim that busi-ness is good. Others say it's rotten. Meanwhile, I'm an agreeable sort of person so I'll agree with both of them. Business is good and rotten.

In 'Smoke' Valley Cigarets and smog both cause cancer, our newspapers informed us last week. descent state had a statisti-cal edge as far as longevity goes. <text><text><text><text><text><text><text> goes. To date, there have been

That means that a resident informed us last week. That means that a resident of Los Angeles County who smokes is facing a double-people who live in almost who live in the other invis-section of Los Angeles. A poll of doctors in Los fata 95 per cent believe that who is can cause cancer and that 95 per cent believe that whet a liper cent had recom-mended to some patients that by leave the area because of the motion.

* * *

We anwhile. Torrance resi-dents can sit at home and watch the brown smog clouds gather over Los Angeles. A recent article pointed that the person who had the best chance to lead the long-est life lived in a small town in Nebraska. That is, the resi-dents of a village in that mid-

(Editor's Note: In two parts . . . The gressive taxes permitted our governme to take more from the people and to spend more and more of their earnings. Instead of the citizen saving his surplus, the govof the citizen saving his surplus, the gov-ernment takes more and more from him for a variety of projects, good, bad or in-different, forcing him to depend more and more on government for what he used to do for himself, his family and his commu-nity. Inevitably this leads to bigger and bigger government, higher and higher taxes, and lower and lower savings on the part of the individual.

* * *

H H H This legalized confiscation finally reaches a point where taxes cannot be increased any more, so big government resorts to deficit financing, or borrowing, thus increasing the public debt with the burden of interest hidden behind a com-plicated financial system which the aver-age citizen cannot comprehend.

* *

H H H The awakening comes when the ettizen suddenly realizes that he bartered his free-dom for a lot of so-called "free govern-ment services and frills" and finds him-self actually working for the government, instead of for himself. This is known as the back door to Socialism and Commu-nism. No invasion, no aggression, no atomic war . . . but liberty is lost first as though all of these things had happened.

* * *

When taxes get so high that the largest When taxes get so high that the largest part of what a person earns goes for taxes, he is actually working for the government. The government controls him. The gov-ernment can give the orders and pull the strings. Later it can force him to buy and sell at whatever price it dictates. All this is done gradually and so legally that no one suspects the inevitable road te Socialism.

**** $

As best we could check in round num-berger in the federal government in just the past 10 years took from the American people the fantastic sum of $459 hillion dollars in taxes. This is 30 times more that the annual average of all previous 150 years. The federal budget for the 1957 we fiscal year is $71.8 billion dollars, the largest in any peace-time year in U.S. history. To raise this money the govern-ment takes 21 per cent to 91 per cent of all personal incomes, plus more than 50 per cent of all profits earned by American business.

* * *

The result of the same reasons, heavy pro-tank of the same reasons heavy pro-tank of the same tax of the same tax of the tax o might be called the "Valley of the Cancerous Smokes and Smokers." Members of the Southern California Chamber of Com-merce may begin slashing their wrists at these reports, but such seem, to be the case.

0

but such seem, to be the case. There may not be a cough in a carload of smokes, but there's certainly plenty of coughs in a valley full of smog. Apparently there's a carload of cancer with both.

Established Jan. 1, 1914 Published Semi-Weekly at Torrance, California. Thursday and Sunday, Entered as second class matter January 30, 1914, at Post Office, Torrance, California, under act of March 3, 1878.

Adjudicated a legal Newspaper by Superior Court, Los Angeles Coun-ty, Adjudicated Decree Nd. 215470, March. 30, 1927. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By carrier, 45c a month. Mail subscriptions 5.40 a year. Circulation office FA 8-404.

· · · · ·