Lydy Installed as Moose Governor in Gala Rites

Fred Lydy, installed as governor of the Torrance Moose Lodge last Saturday night, will preside as the chief executive of the fraternal organization for the first time on Monday, May 6, at a regular meeting at the lodge hall, 1744 W. Carson St., James A. Evans, secretary, announced today.

The new governor of the Moose lodge was sworn in by Stanley Heiman, junior past governor, before a capacity crowd of members, relatives and friends last week end. Lydy was escorted to the governor's station by Mrs. Stanley Heiman, installing sergeant-at-arms, and an escort team of Chapter No. 44 members under the direction of Alice Swanson.

Daniel Desmond, past governor of the Moose lodge, was presented a gift for his year of service to the lodge by James H. Johnston on behalf of the officers and members of the organization.

Others installed in Saturday's ceremonies were O. E. Jeffers, junior governor; Joseph Piatt, prelate; Clyde Drinnen, treasurer; Newton Mazzola, trustee; James A. Evans, secretary; E. R. Dawson, inner guard; William Griep, outer guard; James McCune, sergeant-at-arms; and Emil Wickman, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

the area. He will say that the library now in use is outmoded, and empty of books and offer sites for an increased library.

Don Mathews, Waleria Business Men's Club, will ask for increased police protection for the area, citing an increase in the number of break-ins, while Gene Pinkis, president of the Palos Verdes Riviera Homeowners will discuss park and recreational facilities.

Plans Made

At the Monday meeting of the co-ordinating group, 18 leaders of the 10 groups made plans to make the South Torrance Coordinating Council a permanent group. The organization will represent 30,000 resident and will seek to promote civic betterment through publicity and study of problems, as well as to present a united front when needed, leaders said.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Waleria Kiwanis Club, Waleria Business Men's Club, Hollywood Riviera Homeowners Assn., Southwest Park Civic Assn., Pacific Hills Homeowners Assn., Palos Verdes Riviera Homeowners Assn., Ellinwood Homeowners Assn., Victoria Terrace Homeowners Assn., Victoria Knolls Homeowners Assn., and the South Torrance Democratic Club.

surgery, and their youngest son, Barry Dean, suffered three concussions as the result of falls at his home.

Most tragically, one of their children, Kevin, died last year of complications suffered after a tonsillitis operation.

Move Into House

Last October the Addingtons moved into the house at 728 W. 214th St. from an apartment, bought some new furniture, planted roses in the yard, and began a general improvement program.

"We were so happy there," Mrs. Addington said. "I don't know why these things all happen to us. We try to be good, Christian people. It's just been one thing after another."

The insurance company has indicated that it probably will rebuild the house on the same site, and the Addingtons' furniture was partially insured. They plan to find a house to rent in the interim and await the rebuilding of their house.

The two oldest children, Tamara, 11, and Dennis, 8, now are staying with friends while Barry Dean, 3, is living in the cramped trailer with his parents.

"We'll have to start all over again," Mrs. Addington said sadly.
