Alpha Phi is an international collegiate sorority founded at Syracuse University in 1872. The local club was organized by seven women in 1951, and membership includes all Alpha Phi alumnae in the South Bay cities. On the local level, as well as the international level, the main philanthropic concern of Alpha Phi is cardiac aid, with support given to the February Heart Fund activities, in addition to local projects. All Alpha Phi cubs in Southern California Council of Alpha Phi combine to support an Alpha Phi both at the Doll Fair each November, earnings going to the convalescent wing of Children's Hospital where the majority of the patients are victims of rheumatic heart disease.
