"Judith" is a Capitol Records album which means only one of accomplishment—Judith Garland! This album is a collection of songs she likes best and once again Miss Garland proves her artistry indisputably. Heard are: "Come Rain or Come Shine," "Just Imagine," "I Feel a Song Comin' On," "April Showers," and other great hits.

"Dancing in the Land of Hi-Fi," with George Auld and his orchestra is a natural title for a great EmArcy album. The sparkling brilliance and heat established by Auld and his sidemen with such tunes as "Back Home in Indiana," "Too Marvelous for Words," "Sweet Side," "Sweet Lorraine," and other footsie tootsies.

"Swinging on a Harp," featuring Betty Glammann at the heavenly instrument is a Mercury custom hi-fi album which proves that a harp can swing. Let Miss Glammann bend your ear to jazz as she plays Lullaby of Birdland, "My Funny Valentine," "Wonderful," "Jeepers Creepers," and other great hits.

Howard Hanson conducts the Eastman-Rochester Symphony Orchestra playing "Alan Hovhaness: Prelude and Quadruple Fugue," "Ronald Le Prestre: The Masks," and Roger Sessions: "The Black Maskers," on Mercury's high-fidelity Olympian Living Presence album. Here the American repertoire displays its extent and variety and proves that American music can match qualities with the old masters.

Decca Records has an album titled "Dee-Most" which means that Mr. Lenny Dee is at his "most" when he proves he can do anything he likes with his organ. He makes it croon, cry, pulse, pound, swing, sway, murmur and sigh with such tunes as "Avalon," "Somebody Stole My Gal," "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans," "Ain't She Sweet?" etc.

Another Decca album is "Jazz Lab," with John Graas stepping off a new series of albums to provide entertainment musically and at the same time act as an incentive for young writers and jazz-men to create more individually and freely than ever before. Mr. Graas enjoys multiple accomplishments and his list of credits are long. You'll find enjoyment here in his work.

Lovers of the folk song will love Marty Brill's Mercury album, "The Roving Balladeer." You'll meet a treasure of entertainment here as Marty sings his varied and intriguing worldwide collection of folk songs out of the centuries.

"Hymns" is the title of Tennessee Ernie Ford's newest Capitol album. Ernie's sincere, warm voice lends itself especially well to the singing of the religious message and it can't help but evoke heartfelt response by the listening public. May you find peaceful and comforting listening to this album!

Don't dare miss Capitol's album, "Gordon Jenkins Playing the Complete 'Manhattan Tower'" newly recorded in hi-fi! This is Americana at its very best and it contains the song that I personally begged Patti Page to record, which she didn't—"Never Leave Me," as jaunting a melody as I'll ever hear. This album is exciting from beginning to end.

GASOLINE TAXES

Son of Local Man Killed In Dorm Fire

A Torrance man returned last week after attending the funeral of his son, who was one of three students killed in a recent fire in a dormitory at the University of Idaho.

Funeral services for Paul F. Johnson, 18, son of Clarence K. Johnson, 275 E. 214th St., were held Tuesday in Spokane, Wash. The victim, a sophomore in pre-dental courses at the university, lived in Torrance until he was 11 years old and attended Gardena Elementary School.

The youth apparently was suffocated on the fourth floor of the dormitory in a fire which was believed to have been set by an arsonist.

The father is a carpenter at the Wilmington refinery of Union Oil Co. The victim's mother, Mrs. Audrey Helstab, now lives in Davenport, Wash.

Jim Dandy to Build El Camino Store

Jim Dandy's newest market, and the fourth in the Torrance area, will open next spring as part of the El Camino Shopping Center at 164th and Crenshaw, it was announced here yesterday by W. H. Dyer Jr., vice president and general manager of the Jim Dandy division of Lucky Stores.

The new Torrance store will be the 11th in the greater Los Angeles area, Dyer said. The market will be part of a 14-acre shopping center, and will comprise 26,000 square feet of space equipped with the latest developments in marketing equipment.

The liquor department in the new unit will be self-service located in the main selling area of the store and checked out through the eight mechanical checkstands which will serve the entire store.

Parking facilities for 1100 cars is being planned for the center.

More Stores Planned
The new development, owned by Grand Construction Co., was designed by the architectural firm of Miller Royer Kite, Coldwell, Banker & Co.

CHP Reminds Drivers of New Traffic Regulations

Too many drivers still do not know the traffic laws developed during the last session of the legislature, says the California Highway Patrol.

"A resume of citations issued by the patrol indicates many drivers either do not know or have failed to develop the habit of obeying the newer traffic laws," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell.

is currently negotiating leases with W. T. Grant, a bank, hardware stores, book stores, and other specialty shops, Dyer reported.

The El Camino market is the beginning of an expansion plan for Jim Dandy, the official reported, and negotiations are in process now for several other locations.

The firm plans to open three or four new markets in the near future.

"A list of some of the newer rules is noted here to help refresh the minds of those who tend to forget or who have failed to learn the most recent laws."

Reflections

A Reflection Editorial

WHY WORRY?
Someone sent us a card with the following:
"If you are successful there is nothing to worry about; if you are not successful there are only two things to worry about—your health is either good or you are ill.

If youth health is good, there is nothing to worry about. If you are ill there are only two things to worry about; you are either going to get well, or you are going to die.

If you are going to die, there are only two things to worry about; you are either going to heaven, or you are not.

If you are going to heaven there is nothing to worry about, but—well, I wouldn't worry anyhow."

Worry kills more people than wars! Why Worry?
P.S.: Erase this worry from your mind—Stone & Myers Mortuary will carefully follow your most minute instructions.
