

L.A. Chamber Backs Bonds For Hospital

Board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have endorsed the $15,400,000 bond issue to replace vitally needed County Hospital facilities.

Sam Levy, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Proposition B, announced receipt of the endorsement of the Chamber of the bond issue which will benefit hospital users county-wide.

The money will be used to replace the present inadequate old Harbor General Hospital facilities with a new 700-bed institution to care for patients in the southern portion of the county.

The Board of Supervisors announced they will follow with three more general hos-

Moms' Class Starts Again

"Human Growth," a film showing the development of the human organism from mating through pregnancy and birth, to the adult form, has been booked for the first class in the new series of expectant mothers' classes Thursday at 1 p.m. in the Torrance Health Center, 2300 Carson St.

Dr. B. A. Kogan, district health officer, issued an invitation to all prospective mothers to attend the classes which assist expectant mothers in planning for the new baby. The instruction given is educational in nature and does not in any way take the place of early and regular prenatal medical care by a physician, the health officer said.

Subjects to be discussed include layette needs, health during pregnancy, nutrition, baby's growth, formula preparation, baby bath techniques, and care of the new infant.

The classes are held every Thursday at 1 p.m. except Thanksgiving, which is a holiday. There is no registration fee.

"This new facility will lift the load from the Los Angeles General Hospital," Alfred Thomas, director of Harbor General, said. "We will take care of the entire southern portion of the county and make more beds available at the main hospital."

Support for Proposition B is coming from medical men throughout the county and various other groups have endorsed the bonds.

Bad Memory Wins $$ for R. L. McEvoy

A bad memory has won a Torrance man $100, he learned this week.

Robert L. McEvoy, 2306 Torrance Blvd., received a $100 check from the Reader's Digest for an anecdote sent in to the magazine's department, "Life in These United States," in the November issue.

McEvoy's anecdote described a time when his wife met him at the airport in Oakland as he returned from a trip.

He pointed to the stewardess and declared, "That's Miss Tracy."

"And how do you know that?" his wife inquired.

"Oh, her name is on the door at the front of the plane with the pilot's," he told her.

"What's the pilot's name?" his wife asked.

McEvoy didn't know.

The fact that he didn't know made the anecdote which won him $100. The money will be used to buy new clothes for Robert L. McEvoy III, his 1-year-old son, and the remainder will go in the McEvoy vacation fund.

McEvoy is employed in the industrial sales department of Pittsburgh Glass Co.

WALTERIA NEWS NOTES

Proves Hit at School Carnival 'Dress With Thousand Pockets'

By BETTY MITCHELL
DA 6-4438

"Strange things are happening" could have been the theme song for this column last week. For those of you faithful readers who are still trying to decipher the items, here is the "real dope."

Those who are wondering what the Bigelows, Stimsons, Jacksons, Gordons, Frank Fishers, A. Muirs, D. E. Whann, R. Parsons, George Brandt, P. D. Nancels, J. A. Browns, Mrs. Thill, R. S. Sleeths Jr. and Dr. and Mrs. Labit were doing—they were not a new feature of the PTA carnival, but were enjoying the Business Women's Club party along with the rest of the happy couples so listed.

The new feature of the PTA carnival was a ham dinner which, incidentally, went off with a big bang. So did all the rest of the carnival, as the hundreds who attended same could testify. The cakewalk was, as usual, a huge success. There was a milk bottle throw, dart games, fish ponds, and the "mystery" lady in the "dress with a thousand pockets." For the sweet tooth there was the more than popular cotton candy, home made cakes, cookies, candy, and cold drinks. Hot dogs took a close second to the popular ham dinner which was accompanied by potato salad, etc. Many, many bouquets go to Mr. Glenn Hardcastle who was chairman of the event this year, and to the many helpers who so willingly furnished items and worked in booths, decorating, and helped with all the myriad details necessary for such a venture.

As most of you readers must have guessed, the witches and goblins belonged in the parade which was held at the Walteria School last Friday with all the kiddies parading in their costumes.

The Mothers' Club will hold its meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Fisher, Madison Court, on Tuesday, Nov. 6. At this time Mrs. Hilborn and Mrs. Greer will present the program for the next three months of troop activity.

A very pleasant time was reported by the ladies when they attended the last meeting of the J.F.F. Club on Oct. 23. The meeting was held at the Park St. home of Mrs. Ewa Kelly. The meeting turned into a regular Halloween party with the room and table beautifully decorated in the harvest theme, gaily augmented by Halloween sprites. The table was especially nice with combination arrangements of dry grasses and flowers. There were five prize winners for the night with Mrs. Bessie Sloecker winning first and Louella Lessen winning second in the bunco session, and the lucky Louella walking off with first in "whoopie," followed by Mrs. Georgia Cramer who took second, and Mrs. Nell Crovella who won third. The ladies are making their annual jaunt today with a trip to Chinatown where they plan to have dinner and good time all around.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kelley and will be a gala Thanksgiving gathering on the fourth Tuesday of November.

The Walteria Methodist Chancel Choir will give a musical next Sunday evening, Nov. 4, at the local Methodist Church on Newton St. Previously announced at 7:30 p.m., the musicale is now slated to begin at 8 p.m. Approximately 15 members will present the program which is entitled "Through the Year With Christ." All interested in attending are cordially invited.

Eighty fathers and sons had an interesting "air trip" last Saturday evening when they attended a father and son banquet of the Methodist Men here in Walteria. They were greeted at the door by Louise Marsh who was dressed in a stewardess' uniform and gave wings to each boy as he entered. Surrounding the room were pictures of aerial photography which aroused stimulating conversation during a delicious meal of Swiss steak and all the trimmings, including cherry pie. The program for the night was by Paul Wheeler, chief photographer of Northrop Aircraft. He showed three films on airplanes and aerial photography and also explained points of interest about equipment he brought with him such as a parachute and a high altitude suit. Young Bill Tenney was the lucky winner of a plane model after he guessed the weight of a jet plane most accurately. Each boy attended were lucky winners since each of them were given a picture of a F89-D plane.

This was a climax to a busy week for the Methodist Men since they had a most interesting trip last Wednesday when their program chairman,

Chuck Beck, made arrangements for them to tour the Los Angeles Police building and the jail. Now, folks, don't get excited—the jail tour was for exhibition only, and all the men arrived home safely after stopping off at a restaurant on the way home for a barbecued sandwich.

There are two brand new residents in our town. On Oct. 20 little Russel Dees Monroe Jr. made his appearance at the San Pedro Community Hospital. Russel tipped the scales at 6 lbs. 2 1/2 ozs. at his arrival at 5:35 p.m. He is the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Russel Monroe of 242nd St. Proud maternal grandparents also live in our town. They are Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Baker of Adolph Ave. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Monroe of Lomita.

On Oct. 22 Mr. and Mrs. Mondragon of Madison St. welcomed a brand new son whom they christened Leonard Charles. This new little mite weighed in at 6 lbs. 5 1/2 ozs. He was born at the Torrance Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grogan of Madison St. had a pleasant time on the week end of the 21st when they went to Mexico with a group of teachers and families from the Meadowpark School. Mrs. Grogan is a teacher at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dahl of Tujunga and their two sons, Donny and Ernie, were guests in our town last Sunday. They visited at the home of Al and Betty Langston, Danaha St.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rampley of Winlock Dr. spent a week end visiting when they journeyed to Santa Barbara to see Mrs. Rampley's daughter and family.

POWER NOT LICENSE TO SPEED--CHP

SACRAMENTO—More horsepower in automobiles is not a license for more speed on the highways, warns the California Highway Patrol.

"Excessive speed for conditions and exceeding the stated speed limit continue to lead the list of traffic violations noted in traffic accidents," declared the patrol's Commissioner B. R. Caldwell today. "Most of the accidents involving speed can be charged to the improper and imprudent use of available horsepower and speed in today's automobiles.

The human element is still the deciding factor in the safe use of the motor vehicle," Caldwell continued. "Regardless of the make and model car you own, your chances of being or not being involved in an accident caused by speed depends on how you use the power and speed available at your toe tip."
