

THE FIRST FOR '58... The new Buick for 1958 features bold lines which are exemplified in the luxury and beauty of the Special, big volume seller in the line. Dual headlights, new grille, and other design changes added to power plant and drive improvements will make it another popular car for the American motorist. It will be shown by Butler Buick for this area.

TIME CAPSULE PLANTED... When students of some future era dig up a time capsule planted Friday at Meadow Park School, they'll know the names of members of the rooms which had 100 per cent PTA membership in 1957. The PTA donated a tree to the school in honor of the three winning rooms and students planted a time capsule along with it. Shown at the planting are Principal Herbert Farris, Gail Teel, Wendy Sue Winn, Don Williams, and Mrs. John Agapito.

Post Offices Set Up New 'SATELLITE' Plan for Mail

"Operation Satellite" to expedite the movement of Christmas mail in the Los Angeles metropolitan area has been announced by Regional Director Verne Scoggins of the Post Office Department.

Scoggins said the satellite program is an expansion of a successful experiment in the Inglewood area last year which attracted national attention as a new technique in expediting Christmas mails. He said that the 1957 program will result in faster and more efficient movement of holiday mails in 90 post offices in the Los Angeles area. The program will reduce individual post office costs and, in addition, reduce congestion in the Los Angeles Terminal Annex during the peak mailing period.

The new Christmas mail-handling technique was developed by Los Angeles District Operations Manager Spiro B. Rafalovich and his staff.

Satellite Offices

All post offices will process letters to retain mail addressed for local delivery. Letters addressed to other cities will be sent to 11 centralized distribution offices. The combined volume from each group of "satellite offices" will enable the centralized offices to make 640 separations for California and 882 for points in other parts of the country, leaving only a small percentage of letters requiring further processing before arrival at the office of delivery.

Special round-robin truck schedules will be established to pick up mail on "orbits" about every two hours so there will be a continuous flow into the centralized operations.

Smooth Operation

"Postmasters participating in Inglewood experiment last year reported they had never experienced a smoother Christmas operation," Scoggins said. "Their post offices never had a backlog and usually had dispatched all outgoing mail by 10 p.m. each day, leaving the workroom clear to handle incoming mail for prompt delivery the next day."

"The people in the Los Angeles metropolitan area are fortunate to have postal management officials who have provided pioneering leadership to develop new and improved methods that have been copied in other parts of the country," he said.

SCHOOL BUS INSPECTION DEADLINE APPROACHING

Only 28 private and church school buses have been inspected in accordance with a new county ordinance, with the Nov. 1 deadline for the remaining 646 private buses to be checked by the California Highway Patrol fast approaching, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn warned Friday.

He pointed out that 277 private schools have contacted the Highway Patrol for scheduling of inspections and information on the safety requirements that must be met.

Under the urgency ordinance authorized by Supervisor Hahn, all school buses transporting children to parochial, Catholic, Lutheran, Jewish, Christian, or any other type church or private school or academy must be inspected by the Highway Patrol by Nov. 1 to operate on county roads, streets and highways.

Parents Warned

Supervisor Hahn urged all parents who send their children to church or private schools to "make certain that the buses their children ride in have been inspected and approved by the California Highway Patrol by the deadline date."

Captain George R. Reinjohn, in charge of inspecting all school buses for the Highway Patrol's Southern District, reported to Supervisor Hahn that the first private school bus was inspected by his officers on Oct. 18.

He stated that the same rigid standards being applied to public school buses are also required of private school buses.

Bill Introduced

Hahn introduced an ordinance requiring inspection of private school buses when he learned that the present state law requires only public school buses to be inspected.

The tragic accident on Sept. 30, which killed five children and the driver, involved a privately owned school bus transporting children from the All Saints Parochial School. The bus had not been inspected by the Highway Patrol because of a loophole in the state law which exempts private school buses.

"I believe that all children should receive equal protection under the law," Supervisor Hahn declared. He pointed out that the board of supervisors has instructed the county counsel to prepare a bill to be introduced at the next session of the state legislature which would require safety inspection of all private and church school buses throughout the state.

The county ordinance has also had a good effect on Sunday School buses since inspection of 75 of them has been voluntarily requested of the California Highway Patrol, Supervisor Hahn said.

Test Planned To Fill New Building Job

An examination to fill the newly created position of assistant superintendent of building will be called some time next month, City Manager George Stevens has announced.

The specifications for the position were approved by the city council at its meeting last Tuesday.

To qualify for the position an applicant must be a graduate of an accredited engineering college or have equivalent practical experience. In addition, he must have worked in the enforcement of California building codes.

The job will pay approximately $700 a month.
