one of the fundamentals of our freedom which made us great," Worthington declared.

Commenting on the number of Torrance students who scored above the 90th percentile in the 1958 National Merit Scholarship Contest, Worthington praised the local solution to building and programming problems.

ELEVEN of the 1000 teachers participating in the second annual Business-Industry-Education Day toured the Torrance HERALD plant and offices at 1619 Gramercy Ave., where Publisher King Williams, Co-Publisher Glenn W. Pfeil, and Managing Editor Reid L. Bundy outlined the operations of the newspaper.

Other teachers visited industrial plants, business firms, and utility companies during the day.

The Chamber of Commerce-sponsored program was under the direction of Fred Brunner, executive of the Columbia-Geneva Steel Co. plant here. Brunner said the program is designed to give teachers a close look at American free enterprise by on-the-scene experience.

CHAMBER President Fred W. Mill, speaking to the group at the Torrance High School auditorium before it broke into visiting sections, told them the free enterprise story was one that "teachers should have an opportunity to hear in order that they may be better equipped to give students counsel and guidance.

Color motion pictures of many of the day's activities were made and will be put together as a promotional film by the Chamber of Commerce.
