9 Members in Unitarians Will Writers Sell Articles

Century Club Learn of 'Next 100 Years'

Nine members have been recruited for the "Century Club"—residents who have donated more than $100 to the current YMCA campaign—were reported by Sam Levy and L.N. Gill, who head that division.

Joining up were Paul Burnam, Doug Cannon, L. N. Gill, Albert Isen, Sam Levy, Frank Renz, Ed Smith, Bill Speck, and Joe Wilcox.

The Torrance YMCA fund drive will continue until Feb. 20.

"The Next One Hundred Years in Religion" will be the sermon topic at Sunday services of the Pacific Unitarian Church Society.

Dr. Harry Shuder, church minister, will discuss the changes science is expected to bring in religious beliefs.

Services of the church are held at 11 a.m. at 1610 Acacia St., Torrance.

Several members of the Southwest Manuscripts made sales to various magazines during the past month, it was announced at the January meeting of the local writers' club.

Frank Rhylic, under the pen name Frank Riley, sold a novelette, "A Question of Identity," to be published in the April issue of "If," science-fiction magazine. He also sold two screenplays to be seen on the 1958 "This Is The Life" CBS-TV series; two screen treatments to "Family Films," and an industrial film, "The Marquardt Story."

Mark Clifton, 1957 president of Manuscripters, announced that his novel, "They'd Rather Be Right," is available now in bookstores. Jay Ellis Ransome's article, "Cut Her Heart Out," sold to "Crash."

Catherine Fitz Bolton, using only the two names Fitz Bolton, received cover credits on "Your Life" Magazine, February, 1958, for her article, "Is There a Tyrant in Your Home?" now on the stands.

Polly Booth's short-short, "Sh—Here Comes the Professor," can be read in "Cats Magazine," January, 1958. A technical manual was sold by Ralph Scholl to Fowler Aeronautical Service, with publication set for March.

William Schroeder is the retiring president of El Toga.

Navy Better Program for Re-enlistees

F. D. Fields, local Navy recruiter, today cited the latest advancement opportunities offered Navy vets re-enlisting.

He pointed out that ex-Navy men who were discharged while holding one of the limited ratings that were slow in advancement, now have the opportunity to convert to one of the fast climbing rates in the technical or electronics field.

Boatswain mates, gunners mates, commissarymen, engineers, and many other ratings of all pay grades, now have

Girl Scout Leaders Pick Mrs. R. Hess

Mrs. Richard Hess was named neighborhood chairman and Mrs. Edmund Ives, council delegate, at a recent meeting of the North Torrance Area 1 Scout Leaders.

With the division of the north Torrance area, the group selected as its new name, BIGSS (Brownies-Intermediates, Girl Scouts-Seniors), which will be submitted to the council for approval.

The new chairman named committee heads as follows:

Mrs. Robert Petersen, day camp director; Mmes. Charles Petersen and Ira Hon, co-directors of day camp; Mrs. Charles Ringer, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Williams, uniform exchange chairman; Mrs. Petersen, troop organizer; Mrs. Hon, El Nido troop representative; Mrs. Ringley, Steele troop representative, and Mrs. Howard Thompson, publicity.

the chance to qualify for change-over to electronic technician, radarman, fire control technician, sonarman, and a half dozen other ratings that the modern Navy needs badly.

In addition, qualified personnel re-enlisting as a fireman or seaman are being sent to one of these technical schools regardless of what his job was during his first enlistment.

Fields reported that he enlisted as many ex-Navy men during the month of January as he did during the last half of 1957.

Fields also said, "I expect a large recruit quota for February and am now accepting applications for that month.

Complete information regarding the Navy's enlistment or re-enlistment programs is available at the Navy Recruiting Station, 18422 S. Vermont Ave., Gardena.
