Schools Defended

Editor, Torrance eHrald: I have just finished reading Vincent Thomas' review if the Torrance Herald issue of a Senate Committee Re-port on Education in Cali-fornia.

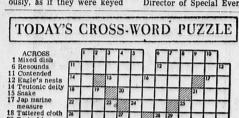

I am getting fed up with every candidate for public of-fice getting ino the school act. Just because we have been frightened by recession. by Sputniks, by recurring world crises on all sides of us, we look around for a devil to blame for all our troubles. Twenty years ago before I married I taught in a neighboring school system. Later I substituted. Now after an absence from the class-room of 12 years, I am again substi-tuting, this time in the Torrance System. I go all over the Torrance system, I have been in one room after another of one school after an-other. Consistently, I find children and teachers trying children and teachers trying to do a good job. Without ex-ception I would say that 80 per cent of the day of all classes that I have been in, goes to good solid work on Arithmetic, Social Studies (would you prefer the name Patriotism included in that?), article all day a patriotism is taught all day, a patriotism is taught all day, a teacher never makes a move without showing the child by action and word what is meant by loyalty and high ideals and pride in country), Reading, Spelling, Language Studies, and Writing.

In fact, when those last three are added, I expect the proportion of the day is proportion of the day greater than 80 per cent.

Twenty years ago, the methods we used kept us at the children to get their work done. Today, I find in class after class, that their work getting done is their concern; if they do not finish at the end of the assigned period, they do not wish me to "colthey do not wish me to col-lect the papers" which means letting he rest go undone, they automatically put back the unfinished onto the corner of their desks, and I will see them the rest of the day in their spare time reaching and getting at that unfinished work. At the end of the day when I do collect the work, if they are not finished, it is not uncommon for them to ask if they may take it home to finish. I find many of even the little ones coming in in he morning with assigned home-work to hand in. They expect me then to assign more at night. Every room does not have home-work every time I am there, but a lot of them do. When I was substituting during the early 1940s I never remember home-work. I don't remember anyone ever coming in with it the first thing in the morning, nor any taking kindly to such sugestions at night— which is not to say teachers gave no homework, just that in my substituting I did not up a bit, needing more quiet after they left the group acafter they left the group ac-tivity of school life, needing less TV and radio on all the time at home. I see them coming from homes where al-ways parents are doing the best they can, but where adult problems are at times so great they spill over onto the child. I see children need-ing hadly the scalinger that ing badly the steadiness that must come from a family group where self-discipline and love and loyalty is held of first virtue. No matter how

Let's know that the strength of know that the strength of every public institution is the strength of the composite of every family living within the range of that institution. Good healthy interest and concern and straight think-ing are constill. Mail socked ing are essential. Half-cocked ideas and half-truths thought up to serve a secondary pur-pose can be pretty disaster-ous, to more than just those thinking them up. M. L

Good Neighbor Salute

Editor, Torrance Herald, You know, only too well, the unhappy treatment given our Vice President during his recent South American Tour. So I'm sure you'll agree that genuine "Good Neighbor" gestures are most apropos right now. That's why we want you to

It is not going to destroy NATO. It is not going to be anti-American, regardless of the power of the De Gaulists moment France was stabil-ized politically, he denounced and opposed them. De Gaulle is considered an avowed who are not as friendly to-ward us as other political facenemy of Communism, and this is again evident in the Communist strikes and poli-tical opposition to him inside France. De Gaulle favors compromise with Russia ... Fundamentally, France is one of the greatest nations in the world and its people among the finest in the world.
