Playhouse to Use Talent of Professionals

Professional theater comes for the first time to the South Bay with tonight's opening of Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning" at the Hercules Beach Playhouse.

A contract was signed Monday between Charles Gray, managing director of the Hercules group and the West Coast branch of Actor's Equity.

Due to this contract, "The Lady's Not for Burning" and all subsequent productions of the playhouse will be given under the auspices of Actor's Equity and Gray will have a free hand in bringing to this area top-flight actors and directors from any of the various entertainment fields, motion pictures, television, radio, and legitimate theater.

Besides its primary function of bringing professional talent to Southland audiences the contract will give talented amateurs the chance to work with professionals and join Actor's Equity when they have proven themselves.

Legion Gives Four Awards

Four students at Stephen M. White Junior High School received American Legion School Awards.

First place winners were Richard Reed and Florence McAlary, and the runners-up were Stanley Lawrence and Maureen Okada.

The awards were given to the students who attained the highest average in honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service.
