Torrance Girl Scouts Help Community Chest Campaign

School's out, but some important work has only begun for Girl Scouts from Torrance Troop 914 and their troop leader Mrs. Gertrude Davis.

Mrs. Davis, who works during the school term in the office of the Carson St. School, takes on a new job during the summer. She transports Girl Scouts all the way from Torrance to downtown Los Angeles to the Community Chest central office. There the young volunteers ranging in age from 7-17 help out with many tasks preparatory to the annual Community Chest drive.

The young volunteers put in from two to four hours per day mostly counting and sorting materials to be included in workers kits. This is no small task. From seven to nine million stickers, feathers and pledge cards must be sorted and counted before the annual Community Chest campaign begins.

Prepare Materials
According to Mrs. Evelyn Davis, director of the Community Chest volunteer bureau, "The tremendous job of preparing materials for the campaign could hardly be done without the help of the many young volunteers from such agencies as the Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, YWCA, CYO, the International Institute, and the Church Welfare Bureau.

"These youngsters are really the pace setters for the campaign," Mrs. Davis said. "And if everyone of us follows their example of hard work, we can be certain of reaching our campaign goal."

Girl Scouts from Torrance Troop 914 who helped out this week were: Mrs. Gertrude Davis, Leader, 2555 Sonoma St., Torrance; Mrs. Ruth E. Clutter, Co-Leader, 812 Acacia; Mrs. Marie Bischoff, 1621 Greenwood Ave.; Cathy Clutter, 812 Acacia; Linda Louise Davis, 2555 Sonoma St.; Kathy Donohue, 1819 Gramercy; Susan Stamps, 804 Acacia; Jane Strohm, 2406 Cabrillo; Judy Wilson, 2561 Sonoma; and Jackie Zuznich, 25503 Belle Porte, Lomita.
