Lions Sponsor White Cane Days

White Cane Days tomorrow and Saturday swings sight conservation into focus as the Torrance Lions Club joins more than 30,000 Lions Club members in California and Nevada in bringing their annual project before the public. Chairman Ted Husung, dean of American sportscoasters who lost his sight two years ago following an operation, called upon citizens to give generously as they receive their miniature white canes from the Lion Clubbers who will be stationed on street corners throughout the two states.

"THESE 30,000 Lions contribute freely of their time some quarter of a million man hours per year to make this project a success," Husung stated. "They also produce the miniature white canes which they sell through their year-around work program, thus permitting all of the funds collected to be used in various projects to aid the blind." Husung said the Lions clubs

Parks Will Hold Football Clinic

Parks are again open for Fall activities with games, story hours, parties and sports according to the Torrance Department of Parks and Recreation.

Football clinics will be started Saturday at El Nido, 182nd and Kingsdale; El Retiro, 126 Vista Del Parque; McMaster, 3624 W. 174th St.; Sea-Aire, 22730 Lupine; Torrance, 2001 Santa Fe; and Walleria, 3055 242nd St.

The fundamentals and techniques of touch football will be covered at these clinics. Boys 7, 8 and 9 years old will sign up for the Ivy League; 10 and 11-year-olds will be in the Skyline League. Rocky Mountain Leaguers for boys 12, 13 and 14 years old and high school boys 18 years old and under will register in the Big Ten League. Games are scheduled to be played at Torrance, Walleria and McMaster Parks. Ivy and Skyline Leaguers will play great that city officials had decided to delay the filing for another week. "Our only interest is in collecting the delinquent fees—about $12 for the first year of operation," Scharfman said. He added that court costs and filing costs would be added into the delinquent charges if the city was forced to go to court to collect.

Current planning is that delinquent accounts will be prepared for filing in South Bay court next Tuesday. The fee is $1 a month and first became effective last Oct. 1 in conjunction with the outlawing at that time of the backyard incinerator. Since that time, about 450 accounts out of nearly 23,000 have become delinquent, the finance officer said.

their scheduled games on Saturdays. Rocky Mountain League games are scheduled for Thursday evenings, and Big Ten League for Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesday evenings. Sept. 27 is the deadline
