

Voters League Units Will Begin Study of 'Water'

League of Women Voters of Palos Verdes Estates announces that the first unit meetings of the season will start on Monday, Sept. 29. The topic to be discussed is "Water Conservation" under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Morgan.

There will be five units this year in order to provide a time and a place convenient for all. Unit 1 will meet in the home of Mrs. W. E. Schroeter, 690 Yarmouth Rd., Palos Verdes Estates, on Monday, Sept. 29, at 8 p.m. Mrs. John Mendel, 4028 Via Opata, Palos Verdes Estates, will be hostess to the unit meeting Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 10 a.m. in the Hollywood Riviera section of Torrance. Mrs. Robert Christensen, 121 Via Alameda, will be the hostess for the unit meeting Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m. The final two units will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kenney, 2407 1/2 Via Campesina, Palos Verdes Estates, at 10 a.m., and Mrs. Arthur Angel, 4483 Silver Saddle Lane, Rolling Hills Estates, at 8 p.m.

The league members showed such great interest in last year's study of the national water resources program that this year the study will continue with emphasis on California water resources.

League of Women Voters of Palos Verdes Estates is a non-partisan organization open to all women in the South Bay area. Anyone interested is invited to attend any one of the unit meetings, or contact Mrs. Thomas Starr.

ARTISTS BEGIN YEAR . . . Torrance Art Group opens its new year tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. at the home of Joyce Fairchild, 22220 Warmside Ave. Members will bring up to three pieces of art for criticism and discussion. An interesting program has been arranged by Marcus White. On display will be a "monopode," a camphor wood carving. Shown admiring this piece of art (from left) are Mrs. Roy Siedler, Newsletter editor; Mrs. R. A. Baker, president, and Mrs. Archie Fairchild, co-president. All members are urged to attend.

... Ann Landers

(Continued from Page 15) such things so he's taking his mother's word for it. He says he'll do all my shopping in town until after the baby is born.

Please, Ann, tell me if you think they're right. Should I hide myself for the next four months? — UNHAPPY EUNICE.

Tell your husband his mother may be a smart woman, and perhaps she's right about many things—but she's wrong about this.

Expectant mothers no longer keep themselves out of sight as they once did. The notion that a pregnant woman must not be seen public is medieval. There's no reason to hide in the attic until the work resumes you.

Insist on doing your own shopping. Make it plain that his mother can't make this decision for you. And stick to your guns. If you lose this inning it may mean the whole ball game.

Dear Ann: My wife and I are having a once-a-week problem which is causing daily trouble in our marriage.

Her folks are big wipers in the church. They've been active in church affairs for over 50 years. They have choice seats assigned to them for Sunday services and holidays.

My wife and I have seats way back. My mother-in-law hasn't been well for the past several weeks and hasn't been able to attend church services. So on Sundays my wife has been occupying her mother's seat next to her dad and I've been sitting alone.

I feel self-conscious because people are always asking me where my wife is and I have to say "She's sitting up front with her father." Am I too sensitive or what? Please give me your candid opinion. — DESSERTED.

Candid opinions are the only kind I give . . . (been reading this column long?) Your wife's place is with you, even if your seats are a full block from the pulpit. If she won't take your word for it—or mine—tell her to ask her clergyman. He'll put

Walteria Business Women Launch Colorful Program

Another adventure in foreign cookery was enjoyed by the Walteria Business Women's Club at their September dinner meeting held at Gonzalez restaurant in Wilmington on Sept. 10.

Following a delicious dinner of Spanish entrees, a business meeting was conducted by Harriet Labit, president.

Reports of the committee's working on the "Round Up Day" activities were given and final work schedules assigned.

Colored slides of the minstrel variety show given recently brought back memories of fun and hard work amid spontaneous laughter. Also enjoyed were the exceptionally beautiful pictures of the Hawaiian Islands taken by Harriet Labit during her recent vacation there.

On Sunday, Sept. 15 at the annual Walteria Round Up Day the Walteria Business Women's Club sponsored a Youth Activities exhibit in the recreation hall. The local Boy Scouts showed the equipment they use for overnight camping and the club scouts brought their Pinewood Derby racing cars. Handcraft exhibits were displayed by the Brownies and the Girl Scouts showed an excellent collection of dolls of all nations.

Participation Award Certificates were given to each youth group represented and their hard working leaders.

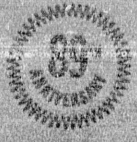

The October meeting of the Business Women's Club will be held on Friday, Oct. 17 at the House of Rummage in San Pedro. This will be a work party in preparation for the rummage sale the next day.

Patio Party

Bauman, 3916 Palos Verdes Dr. North, last Saturday evening. The evening was spent dancing and the host served refreshments.
