in the square dancing which was part of the carnival atmosphere. Merchants participating in the sale were nearly unanimous this week in saying it was one of the greatest events in the city's retail history. (Herald Photo)

OIL EXPORTS

Petroleum products were first exported from the U. S. in 1861, most of them as cargo in sailing vessels.

RAIL SCHEDULES

More than 50 million railroad timetables are needed to supply the demand annually in the United States.

Yearbook Day Obituaries

Featured At El Camino

Student delegates and advisors from 17 neighboring high schools attended the second annual Yearbook Day at El Camino College Tuesday afternoon.

Hosting the guests were members of the El Camino College yearbook staff and their advisor, J. A. Grenier. Dick White, a member of the 1958 publications group, greeted the delegations in behalf of the 1958-59 staff.

Highlighting the afternoon program were presentations by professionals in the field of yearbook production. Anthony Lays, a specialist in professional yearbook photography, presented demonstrations on effective means of yearbook photo art. Round table discussions were led by Jean Taylor, advisor of the Compton College yearbook, and James Powell of Mirro-Graphic Yearbooks.

Invited to attend the special event were delegations from the following high schools: Hawthorne, El Segundo, Inglewood, Leiminger, Mira Costa, Morningstar, Redondo, Torrance, North Serra, Lutheran, Gardena, Aviation, Lennox, Marymount, South and Washington.

College students who served as hosts were Jesse Amado, Torrance; Mrs. Evelyn Arneling, Inglewood; Miss Joanne Clayton, Redondo Beach; Van Dresser, Manhattan Beach; Mrs. Lois Howsley, Welteria; Miss Gay Maupin, Torrance; Roland Miller, Inglewood; Wallace Moore, Los Angeles; Miss Helen Olsen, Torrance; Bill Robison, Torrance; Jim Roberts, Manhattan Beach; Miss Pat Sharer, Torrance; Mrs. Anne Smith, Gardena; Miss Patricia Anne Wills, Torrance; Steve Klein, Redondo Beach; and Dick White, Inglewood.

RUSSELL V. WEHRHAN

Funeral services for Russell Vincent Wehrhan, 43, of 3625 W. 225th St. were held at the Halverson-Leavell Mortuary Chapel yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wehrhan, a native of Iowa, died here Sunday after living in the area for seven years.

He is survived by his widow, Lorna; two sons, Robert and Charles; two daughters, Annette and Marilyn, all of Torrance; his mother, Mrs. Genevieve Wehrhan of Iowa; three brothers, and one sister. Burial was in Green Hills Memorial Park.

RUSSELL CIONKA SR.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago, Ill., this week for Russell Cionka Sr., 81, of 3436 Cricklewood St., who died here Monday. He was a native of Irish, Romania.

He is survived by two sons, Charles T. Cionka, with whom he made his home, and Russell Jr., of 3219 N. Kildare; a brother, Lazar Cionka, of Granite City, Ill.; two grandsons and one nephew.

16-Year-Old Reports Rape Try Sept. 22

Reports of an alleged kidnap and attempted rape last Sept. 22 was filed with Torrance police this week by the 16-year-old victim.

The girl told police she was assaulted last month by a man who picked her up near 190th St. and Ermanita Ave. while she was walking to school.

She said she was picked up by the motorist at gunpoint. He then drove to a spot east of Crenshaw where he attempted to assault her. She was released from the car, apparently unharmed, police said.
