Tickets for the "Holiday Spirit" project were distributed by Mrs. Vernon Anderson, ways and means chairman. She announced the date as Dec. 19. Plans for a bake sale to take place on Dec. 22 are also underway. Proceeds from these projects will go into the philanthropy fund.

The next social function, which will include husbands, is a Christmas cocktail party on Dec. 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, announced Mrs. Parke Meek, social chairman.

Last Tuesday, Veterans Day, when the rest of the city was quiet, these children were observing the day. Wearing their soldier hats and honoring the flag, they are, Roger Keldronk, Martha Osterback, Emily Habib, Jean Emge, Cathy Stauchliff, Ray Osterback and Sally Habib and Joseph Tillman.

Mrs. Kenneth Browning, man, reported that her committee recommended that the Redondo Beach Senior Citizen's Club be the club's main philanthropy again this year. Ann Landers

I love to see them any time, are usually wrong. The friends we REALLY like to see any time wouldn't think of coming over without notice, which is probably why we are always happy to see them.

Dear Ann: I know you don't want to hear the subject to death, but just run over later, please, on the Christmas party.

Any wife who is so insecure and unsure of her marriage that she would ask her husband not to go to the annual office party ought to be honest and admit she hasn't done a very good job of "binding him to her with hoops of steel."

I'm not a fettered husband who is taking up the cudgel for ALL MEN. I'm a woman who was once married to a wonderful guy, but I lost him to someone who knew a lot more about what it took to keep a man happy.

It took me seven years to overcome my bitterness. But now I'm certain it isn't possible to steal another woman's husband unless it's ready to be stolen. A man is not a sack of salt. He's a living creature who responds to attention and affection.
