Benner to the newest recruit, were on hand to welcome the boys and their families, and to demonstrate many of the thrilling fire fighting drills.

A thrill that wasn't a drill was logged during the tour. Two engine units, the rescue and salvage unit, and the 85-foot aerial ladder truck were sent screaming out of the station on an oil well fire alarm. Under the heading of demonstrations, the visitors were shown a fireman making a 65-foot life line drop from the top of the hose tower, jumps into the life net, the auditorium ladder raise, and a demonstration of the fire equipment. The demonstrations were carried out under the direction of Captain John Agapito and Fireman Richard L.
