Road to Success Outlined by Visiting Author

Margaret Leighton of Santa Monica, well-known author for juveniles, spoke recently to the Southwest Manuscripters and guests at Clark Stadium, 861 Valley Drive, Hermosa Beach. She reviewed the steps which led to her success as a writer and a winner of the Junior Literary Guild Award.

As her stories lengthened they were serialized in "Child Life" and "The American Girl." Her own children became the "Hill" children and their former home in Virginia became the setting for a full length serial, "Secret of the Old House," first published in "Child Life" in 1941. It was republished in book form which won the Junior Literary Guild Award and is still one of the best juvenile sellers today.

A request for a fourth-grade, supplementary reader on medieval history plunged Miss Leighton into a fascinating research into the Saxon period, introduced her to Princess Judith, produced exciting material for the book, "Journey For A Princess," and launched her into writing juvenile novels. For Grosset and Dunlap Publishers, she did a successful biography of Florence Nightingale.

Miss Leighton returned to fiction and her "Hill children" and brought one of them from "The Old House" (in Virginia) to California and the mystery of "Secret Of Smugglers' Cove," which is becoming another favorite book among the young teenagers.

Miss Leighton advised a 25,000 word limit in books for the seven to eleven year-olds, 40,000 words for eight to twelve, "avoid slang because it dates books and remember your own childhood interests and write accordingly."

Seventh Grader Enters Baking at Fair—Wins

Winning ribbons at the fair for baked goods is running in the family at the William Weber household, 23002 Kathryn Ave.

A blue ribbon winner at the Los Angeles County Fair last year for orange bread, Mrs. Weber won a second place ribbon for a Swedish tea ring, and third place ribbon for her French bread this year.

Proudest member of the family, however, is Nancy Weber, a 7th grader at Calle Mayor Elementary School, who won third place for her white bread in competition with 29 of the Southland's top women breadmakers.

"Nancy has only been baking a short while," her mother told the HERALD yesterday.

Local Dancers Entertain Grid Fans at Clash

Spectators attending the football game between SC and TCU last Saturday were presented with a unique idea in half-time ceremonies. Attempting to show Texas that California is equally as western a procession of wagons, buckboards, stagecoaches, and equestrian units circled the Coliseum arena. Indians doing a war dance in the center then charged from the group, 112 square dancers from the Wagon Wheels of Lomita and Mavericks of Torrance.

The dancers then performed to "The Yellow Rose of Texas." Calling the dance was Noble Spees, regular caller and founder of both clubs.

St. Luke's Youth Group Greets New Seventh Grade

A spaghetti dinner was held by the Junior High Westminster Fellowship of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church at the Parish House on Rolling Hills Road at 8 p.m. on Sunday, welcoming the new seventh grade members to the group.

Mr. and Mrs. John Couberly and Mr. and Mrs. Neel Buell are the new sponsors of the group, while Mrs. Hilda St. John assisted with the dinner.

After a busy summer of fellowship, the young people are in the process of planning the coming year's activities, and chose the following officers: President, John Lawson; Vice-President, Marjorie Jones; Secretary, Marjorie Hall; Treasurer, Johnny Bill Rose.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Sundays of each month. The Rev. Thomas M. Gibson, pastor of St. Luke's, will present as his communion meditation for Sunday, "One in Christ," based on the Book of Galatians with the text, "For ye are all one in Christ."

The Kirk Choir will present "Agnus Dei," singing for the first time under the direction of their new leader, Mrs. Thomas Mabin. St. Luke's is most happy to welcome Mrs. Mabin, who is well known in the area for her work with church choirs and as the present director of the Las Canelones Choral group, as their new director of music.

Services will be held at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. at Dapplegray School, with nursery care provided.
