

Final Intersection Agreement Reached for San Diego Freeway

A routine item on this week's agenda of the County Board of Supervisors spelled out final victory to the long, hard campaign carried on for many years by civic leaders and public officials of the southwest and South Bay areas to expedite construction of the San Diego Freeway between Jefferson Blvd. and the Harbor Freeway.

The routine item called for the Board of Supervisors to give final approval to the future of the intersection of 135th St. and Anza Ave., which is in the path of the San Diego Freeway.

"This agreement, although it appears routinely on the agenda, is a most important item which will affect every citizen of Los Angeles County because it formalizes the future of this intersection—and in effect, gives the green light for construction to go ahead," Supervisor Kenneth Hahn declared.

HE POINTED OUT agreements involving street closings along the route of the San Diego Freeway had been previously approved by the County Board, no agreement involving the 135th and Anza intersection had been approved because the area had been under annexation proceedings, which have now been dropped.

Hahn emphasized that with approval of the agreement the way has been cleared for construction of the San Diego Freeway through the vicinity of the Los Angeles International Airport, Culver City, Inglewood, Lennox, the Baldwin Hills, Hawthorne, Lawndale, and Torrance.

Commission to provide funds and expedite construction of the freeway.

Since that time, Supervisor Hahn has conferred personally in Sacramento with Robert E. Bradford, State Director of Public Works, on a number of occasions to urge him to expedite the freeway.

The agreement approved by the Board of Supervisors for the future of the intersection of 135th and Anza provides that 135th St. will be kept open by construction of an overpass at the intersection. Anza Ave. will be narrowed slightly at this location and will revert to the status of a frontage road between Rosecrans Ave. and El Segundo Blvd. when the freeway is built.
