

"Your Husband Has A Colossal Ego . . .

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a swell dancer and he sure does know it. Whenever we are out on a party or with a crowd he asks me to dance and the minute he spots a better dancer on the floor he grabs her and throws me at her partner.

This has happened so many This has happened so many times it's beginning to irritate me beyond endurance. I've told him it's not only insulting to me but there is always the possibility that the girl he grabs may prefer the guy she's dancing with. He says I'm overly touchy and that no girl has ever complained.

I told him I was writing to you and he said you'll surely see the humor in the situation and tell me I'm wrong. Am 1? NO EXPERT

Dear No: This is about as funny as a four-alarm fire in a home for the aged. Your husband's behavior is unspeakably rude and he must have a colossal ego to assume that EVERY woman he encounters would rather dance with him than anyone else.

Tell him if he pulls this

Tell him if he pulls this stunt again you will walk off the floor and leave him to battle it out with the man whose partner he tries to snatch.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a fellow 19 and in love with a girl who is afraid of all men. Her father beats her and uses bad language. He also hits his wife and slaps the other kids.

I want to marry this girl and take her out of that ter-rible home but she says she doesn't trust me and that I will probably treat her like her father treats her mother.

I do to get her to marry me?
She is of legal age and could

IN LOVE. -IN LOVE

Dear In Love: This girl's home situation has twisted her thinking and I don't think you can easily untwist it.

The normal reaction of a normal girl would be to leave a punishing situation at the earliest possible minute. Since she chooses to stay at home and get belted around I don't think you should try to talk her into marriage. Find a new girl.

(P. S. She'll probably run off with the first guy who knocks her around like Dear Ol' Dad.)

Dear Ann Landers: Is there anything wrong with an 18-year-old boy phoning a girl, 16, at 4 o'clock in the morn-

Dear Not: There's a time and a place for everything. Four o'clock in the morning is not the time for a social call. It may not be "wrong" but it adds up to pretty poor judg-

Engagement Revealed At Christmas

At a Christmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gyllenskag, 20840 Denker Ave., the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann, to Walter Schwass was revealed,

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schwass, 20931 S. Denker, Torrance.

A June wedding is being planned by the couple.

The bride-elect was graduated from Torrance High school and attended the Flavio Beauty college. She is now employed our daughter has been going steady with Rick and they see each other every day, even if only for a minute. Rick works nights and our daughter is in high school.

We have a phone with a long cord in the upstairs hall. Our daughter often takes the phone into her room and closes the door. Then if she gets a call no one else in the house is disturbed.

This morning she was gigging about the fact that Rick had phoned her at 4 A.M. just for kicks. I thought it was rather cute but her father blewhis top. Is there anything wrong with this?—NOT SURE
