

Fleetwood Asks For Better Bus Service in City

While the need across the nation was once claimed to be a good five-cent cigar, Council Candidate Thirvin D. Fleetwood said yesterday that what Torrance needs is a "good public transportation system to serve this city of 100,000 persons."

Calling the city's present bus system "very inadequate," Fleetwood said the city's public transportation facilities was marked by "poor service and a nonexistent bus terminal."

WHILE RAPID transit is a countywide problem, the city council of Torrance has a full control within the city, he indicated. The council has barred outside agencies from operating bus systems within the city.

"The city council now seems to be too concerned with tracts, real estate, and other special interest areas to do anything about the problems of the people," Fleetwood told the HERALD.

Torrance's bus system is seeking to provide service for 100,000 people with the equipment and facilities for a city of 10,000, he said.

"PEOPLE HAVE to stand out in the rain to wait for a bus in the downtown terminal area because the city has provided no depot facilities," he added.

The lack of adequate and efficient bus service has a bad effect on the city's merchants and the income of the city, he said.

"I think the city council should make a serious re-evaluation of the bus department operations and provide the service this city of 100,000 residents needs," he concluded.

Coffee Slaps 'Give-Away' Tag on Bill

Calling it "another social security giveaway," Republican Congressional Candidate Tom Coffee today blasted the so-called "Forand Bill" as a step on the road to socialized medicine.

In the first of a series of policy statements, Coffee told a Westchester Press Conference that H.R. 4700 would not "solve the problem of medical care for the aged, but would impose a financial burden upon our great-grandchildren that would be staggering."

"We must remember that this nation grew strong with private enterprise and lack of government intervention," he said, "therefore, we must not let the government undertake to care for our aged when private organizations can do it more economically and efficiently."

Coffee pointed out to members of the medical profession that socialized medicine is but one of the many forms socialism can take. He urged doctors and dentists to fight socialism in all its forms if they do not want socialized medicine.
