Cancer ranks second only to heart disease as a cause of death. It accounts for about one-sixth of the total deaths from all causes.

In light of these facts, and with the certainty that if discovered early, many types of cancer can be cured, the month of April has been designated as Cancer Control Month by Act of Congress and presidential proclamation.

It is only natural that people should fear cancer more than almost any other disease. They have seen it take the lives of members of their families or of their friends. They know it can be a cruel killer.

WHAT MANY people do not know is that many cancer victims might be alive today if these persons had only known how to recognize the early signs of cancer and had sought medical care sooner than they did.

Many cancers, when they are small, can be removed by surgery or cauterized or can be destroyed by radium or X-ray treatment. Many types of cancer have a dangerous way of spreading. It may even form "colonies" far away from the original growth which can be a greater threat to life than the original cancer itself. Hence early treatment is vital.

THERE ARE seven danger signals that should compel a person to seek prompt medical diagnosis. It requires the skill of a physician to determine

- whether or not any of these symptoms actually indicate cancer or not and whether or not it is malignant in type.
- The seven danger signals are:
1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
  2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
  3. A sore that does not heal.
  4. Persistent change in bowel or bladder habits.
  5. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
  6. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
  7. Change in wart or mole.

THE IMPORTANT point to remember in the battle against cancer is that no home-remedies or advertised "secret" or "sure" treatments ever cured the disease. On the other hand, prompt diagnosis by a physician and the use of surgery, X-ray and radium have saved many lives.

There are several encouraging signs in the National fight against cancer. Research is being pushed forward at a rapid rate. Many thousands of Americans are being cured every year. And perhaps, most important of all, more and more people are learning to recognize potential danger signals and are reporting to their physicians without delay.

More Work Slated at Freeway End

With County road crews now improving the intersection of Artesia Blvd. and Figueroa St. to reduce peak hour congestion, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced this week that work will also be started within the next few days on similar improvements at the intersection of Broadway and Victoria St. in the Victoria Park area.

Work at this latter intersection will include extension of the pavement on both sides of Victoria St. to provide additional traffic lanes to accommodate the increasing traffic.

Improvement of both intersections is being carried out in accordance with Hahn's policy of planning ahead to reduce traffic congestion when the Harbor freeway is opened south to 190th St.

The projects were authorized after Hahn made a personal inspection of the area in company with County Road Commissioner N. H. Templin for the purpose of preventing future traffic problems.

At present the Harbor Freeway is tentatively scheduled to be opened to Alondra Blvd. (161st St.) about May 1.

Last spring Supervisor Hahn had traffic signals and highway safety lights installed on Victoria St. at Broadway and Main St. for the protection of Victoria Park residents as well as the motoring public.

Aeronca Gets New Contract

The Aeronca Manufacturing Corp. has been awarded two Air Force contracts from the Wright Air Development Division. These contracts involve comprehensive studies of the launching and ground support complex associated with the operations and maintenance of manned and unmanned space systems.

Both contracts, totalling $125,000, will be performed at Aeronca's Aerospace Division of Baltimore, Maryland, it was announced by C. G. Felix, vice president of the Aerospace Division.

These contracts are the result of Aeronca's expanding efforts in the aerospace technology and electronic systems, Felix said. The work will be directed by Peter A. Castruccio who was recently recognized by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the nation's ten outstanding young men. Castruccio was selected for his advance work in space technology.

Lonnie Brown in Identification Training Class

Detective Lonnie Brown of the Torrance Police Department has just completed a course of instruction and has been certified among the nation's first qualified operators of the IDENT-KIT System of criminal identification.

The IDENT-KIT System, newest weapon in the continuing war against crime, is a system of visual identification of criminal suspects. A facial likeness is built by the System from a verbal description given by the victim or a witness to a crime. These images can be transmitted by a simple code to other law enforcement agencies by phone, teletype or written message without necessity of photographic reproduction. Speed of transmission greatly facilitates the apprehension of criminals as soon as possible after the crime.

CONCLUSION of the full-week course of instruction held in Anaheim, California, marks further expansion of multiple department use of the IDENT-KIT System by foresighted and progressive law enforcement agencies. Detective Brown was assigned to the school by Chief of Police Percy Bennett of the Torrance Police Department.

The IDENT-KIT System is now an integral part of the daily criminal apprehension activities of the Torrance Police Department. Coded information on wanted suspects is immediately teletyped between all law enforcement agencies using the IDENT-KIT System.

DETECTIVE Wally Nitz of the Torrance Police Department previously qualified as an Ident-Kit System operator.

The System was developed by the Ident-Kit Division, Townsend Company, Santa Ana, California, from a concept originated by Chief Hugh C. McDonald of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department. Chief McDonald was in charge of the course of instruction.
