Value of 'Delta Pool' Outlined By Torrance Area Assemblyman

As yet, not many Californi- tures. ans are sufficiently aware of the basic importance of the Delta Area to successful operation of the projected statewide water system. As now planned, the complex network of waterways and fertile islands which ways and fertile islands which make up the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers will be transformed by massive engineering into the "Delta Pool," to receive, store, and transmit water from the Feather River and associated projects to the southern and western parts of the state.

At our recent special session the Assembly adopted a resolution which called the Delta Pool the "heart of the water transportation facilities" the state will construct, and which authorizes an extensive study of plans for the Pool, its operation, finance, and related prob-

This study was asigned to the Assembly interim committee on water, and the group has just wound up the first of a series of hearings on the matter. Prior to the hearing, committee members made a tour structure in the first of the series of hearings on the matter. Prior to the hearing, committee members made a tour structure in the first of the whole statewide system. If the project is author-ized, and if properly coordinated arrangements can be senate as proposed in the 20-20 worked out with local agencies and interests, it is anticipated plan authored by Supervisor would extend that construction would extend that construction would extend the first of a series of hearings on the matter of the whole statewide system. If the project is author-ized, and if properly coordinated arrangements can be senate as proposed in the 20-20 plan authored by Supervisor would extend the first of a structure.

BEFORE PROCEEDING to matters discussed at the hear-ings, it might be helpful to describe the Delta Area briefly. Instead of one flowing directly Instead of one flowing directly into the other as is usually the case, the Sacramento and the San Joaquin Rivers divide into numerous and separate chanmingle.

The multitude of islands within the channel network are mostly below sea level, but are extraordinarily fertile and productive. However, their soil is frequently peaty, and this condition creates extensive problems of water seepage into farm lands, subsidence of land surfaces, and infiltration of formed that the construction of constant of the surfaces.

Joaquin and its tributaries reduces the quality of delta watnels, which eventually unite in such a way that the waters of the two rivers gradually commingle. costs are now fixed at approximately $83 million, to be financed from the proceeds of the $1.75 billion bond issue

lems of water subsidence of land farm lands, subsidence of land surfaces, and infiltration of salt water. All of these factors must be taken into account in planning for the Pool and its structures.

THE CURRENT Walter S. Johnson, San reactions of the Delta Pool must be integrated with that of other features of the whole statewide system. If the project is authorized, and if properly coordinated and if properly coordinates of the pool must be integrated with that of other features of the whole statewide system. If the project is authorized, and if properly coordinates of the pool must be integrated with that of other features of the polar p

Another important matter rer. To stop this, it will be necessary to construct a size-able San Joaquin drainage system, properly tied into the Delta Pool and the statewide water are engineered to pr plans. Earlier estimates that some 937,000 acre could be saved annually. Later estimates, based on revised plans, place the figure at two million acre-feet per year, a very considerabe increase.

Later meetings of the committee will receive testimony from interested local agencies as well as additional informa tion on the points I have refer-red to here. From what I have written, it should be obvious that the Delta Pool will be an
