McKesson Putting Heat on State For Action Against Smut Rackets

District Attorney William B. McKesson today made a special plea to a State Legislative Committee to give priority treatment to bills aimed at stamping out the smutty-publication racket in Los Angeles County.

In a letter to John A. O'Connell, chairman of the Assembly Interim Committee on Criminal Procedure, McKesson asked for some indication from the Committee "as to how soon we may expect effective state-level action on a situation we are fighting locally with every resource of our office."

The District Attorney's letter points out that neither the 1959 Regular Session of the State Legislature nor the 1960 Special Session took any action on corrective legislation now in Committee.

THE LEGISLATION consists of bills written by the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office. The bills, drafted after exhaustive hearings on the problem of pornographic literature, have been in Committee for almost two years.

McKesson's letter explained he and his staff felt "very keenly" on the subject and had devoted many office hours "toward combating the peddling of printed filth in Los Angeles County." He offered the full cooperation of his office in any further investigations the Committee might wish to conduct locally.

I WANT TO emphasize, McKesson declared, "that this office has no wish to take part in any move to regiment the minds of men by passing upon what books or literature adults may read."

"I emphatically declare, however, that no purveyor of smut and pornography has either a moral or a legal right to place filthy, printed trash in the hands of minors or anyone else under the guise that these unscrupulous purveyors are merely exercising their basic right of freedom of the press."

THE BILLS referred to by McKesson would tighten state laws and make a real crackdown possible on the smutty publication racket.

For example, one bill seeks to establish a legal definition of obscenity. The definition would make pornography laws more objective and easier to apply to any given questioned publication.

WHILE EXISTING laws enable prosecution of so-called hard-core pornography, much printed material deals with fetish perversion subjects upon which existing laws are vague, making successful prosecutions difficult.

Too, suggested legislation written by the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office for the legislative committee would provide an injunctive proceeding whereby law enforcement officers could keep pornographic publications off newstands. Under present laws, almost any magazine can be placed on public sale, and law enforcement agencies are able to move only after copies have been sold.

"The parents of this community, especially, would like to see a crackdown on this fifth before it hits the newsstands," McKesson declared.

MANY LAW enforcement officers favor some confiscation provision to be written into law. Material seized in pornography raids should be destroyed, they insist.

For example, one recent arrest and conviction involved a photographer who did his work at the Los Angeles County Board of Education photo lab. He was fired by the School Board and subsequently fined $50 upon his conviction for dealing with pornographic material.

However, several hundred dollars' worth of cameras and other photographic equipment he was using was returned to him. Arresting officers in the case argue that this material should have been confiscated and destroyed.

Cerebral Palsy Marchers Make Rounds of City

Now in its third day, Torrance's United Cerebral Palsy Association campaign will continue here this week end with "53 Minute Marchers" calling door-to-door on hundreds of local homes.

The residential phase of the UCP campaign — again called the "53 Minute March," emphasizing that a child is born with cerebral palsy each 53 minutes — began here Tuesday. An annual fund-raising event, the drive is traditionally held in May.

Chairman here for the March is Richard Gibson. Volunteer help is still most welcome, Mrs. Gibson says, who can be reached at FR 5-7680.

Volunteers hope to reach most homes, but anyone who is missed can join the fight against cerebral palsy by mailing a donation to Palsy, Los Angeles 51, the chairman points out.

The result of damage to the motor areas of the brain, which gives orders to muscles, cerebral palsy has been called the nation's number one child crippler. A cruel disorder, it takes long expensive training and therapy.

The United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Los Angeles County supports 13 programs for cerebral palsied children and adults, ranging from preschool nurseries for tots under 3 to an industrial training workshop for men and women. It also supports the national program of research into causes of the disorder.

Inglewood Pastor Who Toured Soviet Union To Speak Tuesday

The Rev. William R. Brittin, who spoke here recently to members of the Torrance Ministerial Assn., and last evening to the men of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, will return next Tuesday, May 17, to address a men's meeting of the Regional Evangelical and Reformed Churches at the Seaside Community Church, 230th St. and Ocean Ave.

The Rev. Mr. Brittin, who has been pastor of the Fairview Heights Baptist Church of Inglewood for the past seven years, made a 15-day tour of the Soviet Union last summer while in Europe on a preaching mission to Spain and Portugal.

He and Mrs. Brittin made their first trip to Europe and the Holy Land for the church in 1958. He spoke to many Southland groups after that trip, and is now showing slides and speaking on his experiences on the trip behind the Iron Curtain.

He will speak here next Tuesday on the topic, "Russia — Land of the Anti-Christ." Irvin H. Pauling, president of the Southern California Churchman's Fellowship and a member of the Seaside church, is in charge of the program.

Seniors Feted At Banquet by Area Ministers

More than 100 high school seniors attended a banquet in the Youth Building of the Narbonne Ave. Baptist Church in Lomita Saturday night under the sponsorship of the Lomita-Harbor City Ministers' Council.

Rev. Earl Leonard, pastor of the Lomita Missionary Church, spoke to the students on the subject, "You Are a Success."

The building was gaily decorated with a large display of flowers, and multicolored streamers lined the three lines of tables.

A magician entertained those at the banquet with sleight-of-hand tricks. Master of ceremonies for the event was Robert A. Wells, president of the Lomita-Harbor City Ministers' Council.
