Tahitian Feast Scheduled at The Polynesian

A real Tahitian feast-and-festival will be presented on the mainland for the first time on Sunday, July 17, by The Polynesian in Torrance, which will stage the authentic "Tamaaraa" on the tropical "Irapa'e" at the High Talking Chief's Long House of the exotic coast highway restaurant.

Unequaled in the world for uninhibited gaiety, the "Tamaaraa," which the public is invited to by advance reservation, will be held in celebration of La Fete Nationale de Tahiti.

Pete Reitz, recently returned from the South Seas, will produce the gala festival and personally supervise the "Tamaaraa."

Day-long feasting and ancient ceremonies will be spectacularly highlighted by spine-tingling Tahitian dances performed by the most sensual dancers from Tahiti, climaxed by the pulsating "O tea," "Aparima," "Ute" and the "Hivanau." Authentically prepared in the "Himaa" (earth oven), the "Tamaa" (food) will be traditionally served on flower-bedecked tables in coconut shells and bamboo sections.
