trial developers seeking land to build plants in the city of Torrance," Powell added.

"THERE IS absolutely no truth in the statement that there appears to be no interest in industries coming to Torrance," he said.

The city's planning director also pointed out that much of the city's undeveloped areas is controlled by four major landowners who have not made the land available to developers.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS yesterday indicated that they would continue their fight to obtain the 26 acres which has been declared surplus by the government.

The property is located on the southern side of the Torrance Navy Depot, and the school district applied for the property when it was declared surplus 18 months ago.

IN A LETTER to the district, Jesse Evans, GSA field office chief, said:

"In denying this request, GSA has taken the position that the highest and best use of this property is for industrial development, and since there is other suitable property available at lesser cost in the area, which would adequately serve the needs of the district, it has been determined that the greatest national benefit would be derived by offering the property for public sale."

Hull immediately fired off letters to Vice President Richard Nixon, cabinet officers, senators, congressmen, and other top government officials.

IN HIS letter to Floete, Hull said the decision must have been made "by someone who doesn't know the area." He added that there is no land in Torrance today that is any cheaper than the land in question.

"The board of education does not see how any public agency, even the General Services Administration, can possibly say that public sale for industry will benefit the national interest more than a high school that would serve 2500 pupils per year for 50 years," Hull wrote.

HE SAID the city's fifth high school could be built on the site by adding 15 or 20 more acres.

The need for a fifth high school in the area has been questioned by Lynn and others of the community.

In ceremonies following his address, Rep. Inouye installed R. S. "Dick" Pyle as president of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce to succeed J. H. Paget.

IT WAS probably the first time a Hawaiian Congressman had installed such an official, he quipped.

A key to the city, symbolizing the welcome extended to the visitor, was presented by Councilman Willys Blount, who had introduced him earlier to a large group of area leaders at a reception in his Torrance home.

SANTA RESCUED... Ten-year-old Geary Mikami has decided that Santa uses a different system on Christmas Eve after he tried the chimney at his home at 3774 W. Artesia Blvd. It took firemen about an hour to free him after neighbors heard his screams and called for help. Firemen under the direction of Capt. Joe Warren knocked a hole in the side of the chimney and straightened his leg, freeing him. Here Geary emerges from his ordeal. (Herald Photo)

...Budget

BREAKDOWNS of the budget by categories include:

Instruction, 69.3 per cent; school operations, 10.6 per cent; fixed charges (employee retirement contribution), 4.7 per cent; administration, 3.8 per cent; school maintenance, 3.4 per cent; capital outlay, 2.5 per cent; auxiliary services, 2.4 per cent; transportation, 1.9 per cent; community services, .7 per cent; reserves, .4 per cent; and food services, .3 per cent.

"This is the tightest budget we have had since the district started in 1947," the superintendent declared.

The board has called an override tax election for October 11. The district has reached the legal limit of its operating tax rate. If approved, the 50-cent override would not be effective until 1961-62.

Car Hits Boy

A Torrance boy who was struck by a car while riding his bicycle near 220th and Grace Ave., Monday is reported doing well at Harbor General Hospital. The boy, Marvin Lange, 9, of 22025 Ravena Ave., was taken to the hospital in critical condition.

Highway patrol officers said the boy rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by Dorothy Marler, 20, of 18616 S. Figueroa St., Gardena. He was taken to the hospital with head injuries and multiple abrasions.

Alondra Park Bid Hits Snag

Attempts by Torrance to annex the disputed Alondra Park area were temporarily thwarted this week when Supervisor Judge Eugene P. Fay handed down a preliminary injunction to halt the city's action.

In handing down the decision Judge Fay said that the city had not appeared before the County Boundary Commission in time with the annexation request. Torrance had won its original suit against Gardena by arguing the same point.

ASSISTANT City Attorney Robert K. Dower said that the action does not represent a major detriment to plans to annex the area. Torrance has already won possession of the annexation rights for the so-called "cork" an L-shaped area which lies in unincorporated county territory between Torrance and Gardena, and even if the city is denied rights to the park it will still have an access to the disputed residential area.

LAWDALE, in winning the point, is now the only legal claimant to the residential section. Further legal action by Lawndale is pending and if no snags are hit, that city might be able to hold a special election for annexation on August 1.

Torrance, however, may appeal Monday's decision and it is expected that Gardena will also appeal the decision on the "cork." Torrance stands a better than even chance to annex the disputed area, since they will get the park if the "cork" decision is reversed.

Space Still Available for Theater Party

Reservations for Friday night's theater bus party to see Carol Channing in "Show Business" at the Greek Theater are still being accepted at the Recreation Department Office, it was announced here yesterday.

Persons desiring to make the bus trip to the theater to see the show may make reservations with the department today and tomorrow as long as the space is available, department officials said.

The bus will leave from the Recreation Department office at 1511 Cravens Ave. at 7 p.m. Costs, including transportation and seats at the theater, will be $2.50 and $3.50.
