Military ceremonies marked the end of nine week of "boot camp" and included a full dress parade and review before high ranking officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

TRAINING ENDS . . . Marine Pvt. LeRoy Hutchins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Hutchins, 20550 S. Earl St., recently completed four weeks of individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Pacific Coast Marine Corps training base.

First Fleet, who will fly his flag from the heavy cruiser USS Helena.

Most of the ships involved are normal rotational reliefs for ships now serving with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

Representing 36 colleges and universities throughout the nation, the cadets wore WAC uniforms and trained with regular Army WACs stationed at the center.

The course included both classroom studies and practical exercises in training activities. There was also a visit to Anniston Ordnance depot, near Fort McClellan, and a three-day trip to Fort Benning, Ga., where the cadets witnessed a field training exercise involving infantry, armor and artillery elements.
